

Canton trustees adopt abstention controls

Members of the Canton Board of Trustees will think twice before abstaining on future issues for all but financial reasons.

Township board members Tuesday established a parliamentary procedure for dealing with illegitimate abstentions, under which the township clerk will tabulate all abstentions cast except for reasons of financial conflict as a "yes" vote.

UNDER THE procedure, trustees may abstain from the approval of minutes, if they did not attend the meeting in question. Trustees must state their reasons for abstaining and receive an excuse from the supervisor, who chairs the meetings.

The issue was prompted by an opinion of township attorney William Sempliner and action taken at the board's Sept. 9 meeting, when Supervisor Robert Greenstein changed Trustee Jim Poole's abstention to a "no" vote. Poole cited inadequate time to review the issue in question.

Sempliner, at Trustee Brian Schwall's demands for a legal opinion on the matter, cited township officials' obligations to cast positive or negative votes on issues, except when legitimate conflicts of interest exist.

MOST GOVERNING bodies, Sempliner said, change abstentions to positive or negative votes or votes conforming with the majority.

Trustee Gerald Cheske conducted a study of the abstention matter and Tuesday presented a resolution of parliamentary procedure to fellow board members.

In reviewing the abstention matter, Cheske said he first favored changing abstentions to votes conforming with the majority until he reviewed the problems created by tie votes. Cheske first suggested a vote of the board's majority to allow legitimate abstentions but later amended his resolution to allow for the supervisor's permission at the prompting of board members.

Cheske said he surveyed seven local communities to determine their methods of dealing with abstentions. Three communities, he said, do not allow abstentions under their charters; three allow abstentions; and one "didn't know."

Abstentions have increasingly marked the roll call at the township board table. In most cases, trustees cited inadequate time to review the issues in question.

"I don't believe in abstentions," said Canton resident Bruce Young, "but I feel some provision should be made to provide all seven board members with the same data so many days before the meeting."

Greenstein said board members usually receive sufficient information on issues a week before the meeting, except in unusual circumstances or cases of oversight.

Board members approved Cheske's resolution to change abstentions to "yes" votes by a 6-1 majority. Trustee Robert Myers cast the one dissenting vote without explanation.

One of these young women will be chosen first homecoming queen of Plymouth Canton High School Friday night. They are (from left back) Kristi Sommerville, Diana Ley, Bonny

Plymouth Canton High plans first homecoming

Last year it was a "forthcoming" but on Friday, Oct. 17 it will be an official, honest-to-goodness homecoming for Plymouth Canton High School. For the first time the school has graduates to make the annual pilgrimage to their alma mater.

Plymouth Canton, the second phase of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park, opened its doors in the fall of 1972. Its first graduates were the class of '75.

Homecoming week activities started Monday and will culminate Friday night when the Canton Chiefs meet Livonia Churchill in the traditional football game. The Chiefs stand 2-3 in season play and are in the Western Six Conference. Coach Jim Muneio and troops are planning to give their all for a win before homecoming fans.

THE PCEP marching band will entertain at halftime. Under the baton of Bandleader James Griffith, the band includes musicians from Plymouth Canton and Salem high schools.

The school's first homecoming queen will be crowned during halftime ceremonies.

Five seniors in the running for this honor are Kristi Sommerville, Mary Hallway, Cheryl Greenleaf, Diana Ley and Bonnie King. Class representatives are: Laurie Upton, junior; Sharon Bell, sophomore; and Sue Sobczynski, freshman.

The queen and her court will reign at the homecoming dance which will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday with music by Jedediah.

Monday was Chief Day with the stipulation "girls can't talk to guys." A tricycle race was held in the evening. Tuesday was Sqaw Day when the rules were reversed with "guys can't talk to girls."

THE HALLS were decorated on Wednesday, Spirit Hall Day, which was topped off by a burger eating contest.

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday) from the Plymouth Cultural Center on Farmer Street. Earlier in the day there was a bubble gum blowing contest.

Friday will be Red and White Day with a pep rally at 2 p.m. and the football game beginning at 8 p.m.

Homecoming dance Saturday evening will conclude Plymouth Canton's first homecoming festivities.

School budget hearing is Monday; trustees still pondering cuts

By EMORY DANIELS

The hour of decision is near when the Plymouth Board of Education must adopt a balanced budget for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

A lot of dialogue has been going on during the past few weeks between board members, staff members, teachers, residents and the administration.

Out of all the ideas thrown out, and from the ideas still to reach the administration this week, a proposed budget will be presented to the public Monday night, with adoption scheduled for the board's Oct. 27 meeting.

The public hearing Monday, Oct. 20, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Plymouth Canton High School. Suggestions from the audience will be received, says Supt. John M. Hoben, and those with merit will be incorporated into the final budget presented to the board for adoption Oct. 27.

TO DATE, the board hasn't made any decisions on the budget although trustees seemed to be reaching consensus on some items at last Monday's board meeting.

To assist the board in its decision-making process, the administration has thus far submitted three proposed balanced budgets with a variety of additions and deletions.

These proposals, stresses Ray Hoedell, administrative assistant for business, are merely frameworks for the board to take a look at, and work from, in the process of obtaining a final balanced budget.

THE LATEST proposal was drafted following two public sessions last week attended by residents and staff members.

Although Alternate C isn't likely to be adopted in its entirety, it did propose expenditures of $17,410,000 with a fund balance of $46,000.

This $46,000 projected balance would meet the potential executive order reduction in state aid expected from the governor's office, explains Hoedell, but wouldn't provide any allowance for contingency.

A key recommendation in Proposal

C is that there wouldn't be any custodial layoffs. Instead the district would eliminate five custodial positions now vacant, but retain those now working.

Another suggestion included in Proposal C is to cut elementary school supplies by $3 per student, instead of the previous proposed cut of $4 per student, which would amount to an eight per cent cutback in classroom supply expenses across-the-board in grades K-12.

Among other suggested cost-saving ideas in Proposal C are: decrease new hockey-intramural programs by $36,000; reduce field trip budget by 50 per cent for a $7,000 savings; reduce building inservice budget by 50 per cent to save $7,000, and rely this year on the CASTLES project for this service; reduce the high school substitute teacher account by one-third to save $10,000; and use administrators as substitute teachers to save $5,000.

ALTHOUGH DECISIONS haven't been made by the board, the discussion Monday night touched on some areas where at least a majority of the board appeared ready to go along with.

One apparent consensus is that the varsity hockey program won't be able to be implemented this year. Some wanted to rescue the girls' gymnastic program, but there was less verbal agreement on this. Although votes weren't taken, the board seemed more open to trying to begin girls' golf this year because it only involves an expense of about $2,000.

There also seemed to be general agreement that less money should be budgeted for teacher inservice this year and teachers be asked to make greater use of CASTLES, but there wasn't any agreement on whether regular inservice budgets should be eliminated, cut in half, or reduced by some other amount.

During a rather free-wheeling discussion after Monday's regular meet-

First 'female' hydrant

The program to paint fire hydrants with bicentennial themes received its first female historical figure when a hydrant in Nottingham Forest subdivision was painted to create a Betsey Ross in front of the home of Toni and Mark Zink, 5789 Willow Creek, Canton. The center of the hydrant is a blue field with 13 stars with red and blue stripes adorning the rest. After the Zinks deliberated for a while, they decided to give Betsey blonde hair. Parents air concerns

CEP meeting draws 250

Residents of the Plymouth Community School District may soon hear a rap at their doors and a string of questions concerning the modular scheduling system used at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The survey, conducted by a new group known as Concerned Parents, will gather parents' attitudes toward the modular scheduling system at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools, and work to change the system, if public opinion so mandates.

The group will present the survey results to Plymouth School Board members no matter what public opinion indicates. If the majority of residents request the abolition of the modular scheduling system, the group will ask school board members to institute a more traditional scheduling system at the CEP.

CONCERNED PARENTS drew about 150 parents and students to West Middle School for its second meeting Monday night. About 100 persons signed up for survey work and donated $104 in funds, earmarked to purchase supplies and cover printing costs.

About 1,300 persons are needed to conduct the survey and cover every home in the Plymouth Community School District, according to Barbara Olson, a member of Concerned Parents and coordinator of the survey project.

"Let's have concerned parents get out and do something about this," said Mrs. Olson. "All we need is your help."

"I've fought modular scheduling for four years, but we've never had the response from parents we have now. I have a senior—it's too late for this boy. But I have neighbors too, and I'm concerned about them. Let's do something about this!"

Concerned Parents will tabulate survey results on two bases, Mrs. Olson said. The attitudes of residents with children will be presented to school board members as well as the feelings of childless residents and the elderly.

ALTHOUGH MEMBERS of Concerned Parents do not dispute the philosophical concept of the modular scheduling system, many feel the system does not work for many students on a practical, day-to-day basis.

Goal of the system, according to literature of the Plymouth Community School District, is to enable a pupil "to learn after his formal schooling ends. He must become a lifetime learner and, to enable him to do so, the school must teach not only the what of learning, but also the how."

Under the modular scheduling system, students receive a generous portion of "unstructured" time, earmarked for independent study. Each school day is divided into 20 "mods" or 20-minute periods. Classes, scheduled over a six-day cycle, can extend over two or more mods of time.

Bill Brown, principal of Plymouth Salem, and Kent Buikema, principal of Plymouth Canton, say many students use their unscheduled time effectively. A survey among CEP students and faculty members, shows 95 per cent of the students and 75 per cent of the staff in favor of the scheduling system.

But members of Concerned Parents disagree. Many students cannot handle the responsibility of the unstructured system, they say. The students use their unscheduled time to "goof off" and increase the vandalism and drug problems at the high schools.

"I used to always blame a bad kid on a bad parent," said Mrs. Olson. "I don't anymore. I blame it on the school."

"I know myself I'd love the unstructured time. My son loved it the first two years. Now he's in college and up until one in the morning, because he never learned how to study. The kids are going to take the path of least resistance."

ANOTHER member of Concerned Parents, George Merchant, agreed.

"We're concerned with the amount of time a student isn't in class and what he does with that time. Most of our children receive guidance at home. Some feel they don't at school."

"But you can't blame everything on modular scheduling," Merchant added. "They have drug problems and vandalism at other schools too."

"For the self-motivated child—the small percentage that will get straight A's because of, or despite of, the system—the concept is wonderful. It has been successful in some communities, and dreadful failures in others."

"We want a poll to see how the people in the Plymouth school district really feel."

One member of Concerned Parents cited the school board's responsibility to listen to the survey results.

"If they don't, well, where's Mr. Nixon today?" she asked. "We don't want to have to do that, but we could."

For further information about the survey, persons are asked to contact George Merchant, 13121 Drury, Plymouth, or Mrs. Robert Olson, 1464 Hartstough, Plymouth.

Bus garage to be rebid

The bids for a new bus garage for Plymouth Community School District came in about $100,000 over budget and were rejected Monday night by the school board.

In rejecting the bids, the board instructed the architect to revise plans for the garage and bring the plans back to the board at a future meeting before rebidding the project.

A major change in the plans will be elimination of a wash-rack to wash the buses. Architects also have been asked to eliminate office space in the bus garage.

The wash-rack was to have been a money-saver but will cost about $50,000 if installed. Instead, the plans will provide for two high-powered water hoses on each side of the bay so buses can be washed fast by two persons.

UN observance is noted in area

A number of activities are planned to observe the 30th anniversary this year of the United Nations.

The activities being planned in the Plymouth-Canton area involve the local League of Women Voters, Plymouth Community School District, City of Plymouth, and the AAUW.

THE ACTUAL anniversary will be celebrated Oct. 24 but a series of activities will precede that date.

The UN General Assembly has designated 1975 as International Women's Year. The aims of IWY, as proclaimed by the UN, are: promotion of equality between men and women; integration of women into the social and economic development of nations; and recognition of women's increasing contribution to strengthening world peace.

Mrs. Johanne Fechter has been named as Plymouth's UN Day Chairman by Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch.

There is a UN display in the showcase at the entrance of the Dunning-Hough Library in the city.

Florence Beier, administrative assistant for community relations for the Plymouth Community School District, has worked with Mrs. Fechter putting together a kit which has been sent to each school suggesting ways of observing UN Day and IWY.

Fund locates with Chamber

The Plymouth United Fund has located its offices in the facilities of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, Suite 6A, at 878 Wing.

The announcement was made this week by Willard Carlson, president of the Fund, who commented: "The location of the Fund's offices is very timely because the 1975 Plymouth United Fund Campaign is now underway. "The office will not only serve as headquarters during the campaign, but will result in a more efficient operation throughout the year."

Mrs. Daisy Proctor, financial secretary, will handle the office duties. The office telephone is 453-1540.

Another group involved in a United Nations activity is the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women with its sponsorship of the UNICEF trick or treat program.

At last night's meeting in city hall, a report was given on the IWY conference in Mexico City by Ms. Lois Wade, a student at Schoolcraft College. Robert Lang, political science instructor at Schoolcraft, spoke about UN highlights over the past 30 years.

Nature pond delayed by shortage of funds

Construction of a combination flood control and nature pond at the Centennial Educational Park will have to wait for selection of an engineering firm to perform preliminary work as well as availability of funds.

Plymouth School Board members recently deferred the appointment of Wade, Trim & Associates to the engineering assignment, as recommended by the district's administration, and referred the issue to the administration for further study.

Wade, Trim & Associates, the firm providing engineering services to Canton Township, is already familiar with the CEP's topography. The pond was first proposed to prevent flooding problems at Plymouth Canton High School when that building was constructed, according to School Supt. John M. Hoben.

School board members questioned the firm's engineering fee, set at $6,000. School board vice president

Marcia Borowski questioned the role of Wade, Trim & Associates in building the high school on what she termed a "flood plain" and the failure to take bids on the project.

"It just looks horrendously expensive to me," Mrs. Borowski said of the engineering fee.

School board members, Hoben said, should go ahead with the engineering work or wait until funds for the entire project, estimated at $50,000, are available.

A previous school board allocated $15,000 for the proposed pond project in the district's building and site fund, Hoben said. The figure has risen because of inflation and a tentative agreement with a previous Canton Township administration to jointly undertake the pond project.

School officials, Hoben said, have not approached Canton's current administration, headed by Supervisor Robert Greenstein, with the pond issue.

The pond is needed, the school superintendent said, because of a 26-foot drop in elevation from the CEP's northwest to southeast corner. A man-made contour in the CEP land diverts potential flood waters around Plymouth Canton High to the school's athletic field and tennis courts.

Wakely-Kushner, the architectural firm designing phase three of Plymouth Canton High, recently revived discussion of the proposed pond issue, Hoben said.

A multitude of factors, including unsuccessful attempts to trade land with the CEP's western neighbors, stalled construction of the pond, proposed as a retention basin and nature area.

"We just never got around to it," Hoben said. "It's all in a hazy mess, and we're trying to put it back into focus. I don't think at this time we have any fear of flooding buildings. It's just that the fields could turn out to be a mess."

Canton adopts '76 budget with $1.5 million to spend

Canton Township will operate under a $1.5 million budget during its 1976 fiscal year.

The budget, approved by township board members 6-1 Tuesday night, is "substantially" the same as one reviewed by residents three weeks ago, according to Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

CANTON OFFICIALS shifted $4,000 from the capital improvement to industrial development fund at the prompting of residents at the budgetary public hearing, according to Treasurer Carl Parsell.

Although 19 items are listed differently, Parsell said all other monetary figures and subtotals in the approved budget are the same as those contained in the budgetary worksheet presented to residents.

A new uniform accounting system, imposed by the State of Michigan this year to ensure uniform auditing procedures, mandated the reorganization of the budget, Parsell explained. The budget was presented to residents in a different form to ease comparison with the 1975 budget.

THE BUDGET balances revenues and expenditures at $1.47 million—$11,000 less the 1975 budget. Parsell expects a fund balance of $184,000, not shown in the 1976 budget, at the end of the 1975 fiscal year on Dec. 31.

Trustee Brian Schwall cast the one dissenting vote against approval of the budget and cited inadequate time to review changes in the budget's format.

"Because I received it yesterday evening, I haven't had the opportunity to go over it," Schwall explained. "I believe the budget is substantially the same as that discussed at the public hearing, but it is differently stated. Because of that, I don't feel we've had sufficient opportunity to go over it."

Schwall moved to table approval of the budget until the board's Oct. 28 meeting. That motion, seconded by Trustee James Poole, failed by a 5-2 vote.

W-W School District outlines budget picture during hearing

Wayne-Westland School District will be receiving more than $3.51 million more in revenue this year, but will be spending more than $3.55 million than last year.

In a budget hearing Monday, business superintendent Richard Keilhacker outlined the district's projected financial picture, noting that although the district has lost 153 students over last year, it will be more costly to operate schools this year.

Total revenues for the district are calculated at $33,827,236 while expenditures are estimated at $33,823,486.

Despite the enrollment drop, the district will see increased revenue from the state in the form of state equalized valuation, from the county in the form of special education funds and from local municipalities in the form of higher property taxes, despite the fact the district's millage rate has remained the same over last year.

BIGGEST BITES out of the budget were due to increased teacher and administrator salaries.

Elementary teacher salaries are up $911,425. Secondary teacher salaries increased $954,105. Special education salaries tally $809,532 more than last year. And district administrators will be earning $65,084 more than last year.

"I got this the same time as everyone else did," said Trustee Gerald Cheske. "I think there was ample time for the budget to be reviewed. The totals are all the same."

Said Greenstein, "I just can't believe that someone who got the budget last night couldn't go over those 19 items."

Greatest single increase was attributed to employee insurance which jumped $424,426 over last year. Employee insurance is included in fixed charges which are expected to rise $504,426 this year. Also included is a $64,153 increase in the rental of data processing equipment.

IN CONTRAST to other school districts Wayne-Westland held its own or received increases in all of its state aid allotments.

The budget will be formally adopted at Wayne-Westland's next board meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 27.

Plymouth School District to study ban on hunting

A request by residents in Section 5 of Canton Township to ban hunting has led the Plymouth Community School District to research the issue as it affects school property in areas where hunting might take place.

The district owns land in Section 5 for a future school building, and as property owner was asked by Canton if it wanted to take a stand on the hunting ban question.

Instead of taking a position on the particular issue in Canton, the board directed the administration to research the question and recommend a policy at a future board meeting.

THE DISTRICT owns 14 acres in Section 5 of Canton. Superintendent John M. Hoben had recommended that the district not take a position on this particular issue.

Marcia Borowski questioned whether the board could legally sign a petition to ban hunting because not all board members were registered voters in Canton.

Marda Benson, board president, commented that if hunting is restricted on property the land might be subject to rezoning either to multiple or to a use which would allow 60-foot lots—both alternatives which would result in more children attending school in the future.

Borowski replied that it didn't make any sense to her how a hunting ban could result in land being rezoned to allow 60-foot lots.

Trustee Joe Gray said he felt it was up to the Canton Township Board to decide and the school board should leave it up to the township board to settle the matter.

SECRETARY GEORGE LAWTON asked the administration to come up with a list of all school property where hunting is permitted "so we can determine the magnitude of the problem district-wide."

"I think we should dignify the request for our position with a reply that because children now don't occupy the site it is inappropriate for us to take a position now."

Borowski said she understood the decision would be made by the views of a majority of land-owners in Section 5, not by the residents. "For this reason, because we own quite a bit of land, I think the schools should take a position."

Hoben commented that the district, or any property owner, is free at any time to post no-hunting signs on their property.

Lawton said there would be little or no hunting on the school's land because it's being leased now and is plowed under so that it doesn't provide cover to hide small game.

Lawton said he didn't think the board was precluded from taking future action on its Section 5 property once a policy is established.

The Stroller

Even the circus changes

More out of sheer curiosity than a desire for entertainment, The Stroller recently was among those present at Olympia for an evening performance of "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Several decades had passed since he last sat in on a Ringling Brothers Circus and he wanted to see what changes had come about since his youth when Circus Day was a big event in his hometown. In fact, it was one of the biggest days of the year.

Now, as he watched the action in the three rings—the first time he had ever seen the circus indoors—the performers were much the same.

As usual, there was an army of clowns, lion tamers, bare back riders, tight rope walkers and all sorts of acrobatics in the air.

But as they took their turns in the spotlight, The Stroller couldn't help recalling the days when Emmett Kelley, king of the clowns, entertained, and Clyde Beattie was the man in the cage with the lions.

And while he sat there marveling at some of the action he could see the ghosts of Emmett Kelley and Clyde Beattie and it was like looking at two shows in one.

BUT WITH ALL the glamour the Ringling Brothers put into its production—and there was plenty—somehow it doesn't come up to the old days when the circus was outdoors in a large tent. For instance, there were no sideshows, no such attractions as "The Wild Man of Borneo," that always attracted huge crowds before the main event. Also missing was the "fattest lady on earth," Fatima the Oriental dancer, and other figments of P.T. Barnum promotions.

Old P.T., when asked years ago, what attracted people to these side attractions, answered, "There's a sucker born every minute." This remark has lived through the ages.

While the younger set crowded all around him the other evening, seemingly enjoying the circus, The Stroller felt they still were missing the greatest thrill and enjoyment of the circus—watching the workmen erect the tent and the joy of feeding the animals when the circus train arrived just at the break of day.

In those days the circus (Ringling Brothers or Barnum and Bailey) played only outdoors in mammoth tents. And mostly they were one night stands in the small towns of America.

As kids we used to count the days until the circus was due. We'd lie awake half the night to be on hand when the circus train arrived. There always was plenty of work to be done. We'd get jobs feeding the animals, or carrying water to the elephants, or walking the camels.

WE'D EVEN hold stakes while the men pounded them into the ground as the big tent was being erected.

It mattered little that we were paid small wages. We were given tickets to the show. That meant more than money. And sometimes we'd even get a chance to ride in the parade.

Plymouth school budget

"Almost any cut we make will hurt the education of children. We'll have to decide what cuts can be made that will hurt the children the least and, at the same time, keep in mind the basic educational objectives of this district."

HOBEN REMINDED the board it only had seven days to provide input to Hoedell so a balanced budget could be presented at the public hearing Oct. 20.

Marcia Borowski, board vice-president, presented a list of cuts she felt should be made. Ideas were also given by Treasurer Tom Yack and Trustee Joe Gray. Trustees Gary Mirto and Dr. E.J. McClendon were absent.

At this point, Board Secretary George Lawton objected to the way the meeting was proceeding. "Each board member is making suggested cuts, many of which are good. But we cannot vote on these suggestions because this isn't a public forum." (The regular meeting had adjourned).

"We are putting the administration in a very difficult spot. They can't incorporate all the suggestions of each trustee into the budget. How can they take input from individual trustees and work it into the budget without the board voting to express its position?"

Ms. Borowski said she felt it was imperative for trustees to give input to the budget process before the public hearing.

After the debate on procedure continued for some time, Hoben asked if each trustee couldn't make a list of deletions and additions in writing and submit it to the administration.

"We will provide an answer to each suggestion, whether it is workable, and offer a reason why it can or cannot work."

YOU CAN HAVE YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY CHECK DEPOSITED DIRECTLY IN YOUR ACCOUNT

If you have or open a savings account, you can have your checks deposited directly into your account every month. Direct deposit of checks has several advantages. For example:

- You don't have to go to your Savings & Loan organization and stand in line to cash or deposit your check.
- Even if you are away from home, your money is available in your account instead of sitting in your mailbox.
- You don't have any problem in cashing your check because it goes directly into your account.
- You don't have to worry about losing your check after you receive it or having it stolen from your mailbox.

If you don't have an account now, you can open one with Surety Federal. To arrange for the deposit of your checks, contact the Surety Federal office of your choice and ask for a direct deposit form SF-1199. If you want more information or have questions about the program, get in touch with Surety at any of our 4 offices.

How Mr. Plymouth lived 56 years ago

(Part 1)

It is Friday, May 2, 1919, a month before the signing of the peace treaty ending World War I.

Mr. Plymouth of 56 years ago has just returned home after a day on the assembly line of a rifle factory on Union Street. He is in a genial mood; work had been productive, the day is fine, he has a general sense of well-being.

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson

Conscious of a pleasant aroma from something simmering on the coal-fired range, he steps into the kitchen to greet his wife. The amenities over, he is told to stay out of the kitchen. Supper isn't quite ready yet. Why don't you sit on the porch and read the "Plymouth Mail?"

OBEEDIENTLY, Mr. Plymouth sits in the rocker on the front porch and unfolds his newspaper.

Owned by F. W. Samsen and edited by L. B. Samsen, the "Mail" dates back to 1887 when it was founded by J. H. Stiers. The subscription price is $1.50 a year. The May 2 issue, volume XXXI, number 22, is composed of ten pages.

His eyes roam the front page, which carries more advertisements than it does news. Two of the largest ads belong to churches. The First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Luther Moore Bicknell, pastor, advertises a 7 p.m. vesper service. The pastor will discuss "The Antagonism of Indifference."

The Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. F. M. Field, pastor, advertises an open house on Tuesday. A five-reel movie will be shown, "No Children Wanted," it features the world's best loved child star, Little Gloria Joy. On Sunday at 7:30 p.m., the church will present "The Mass Movement in India," illustrated with colored slides.

Other advertisers on page one include the Beyer Pharmacy on Liberty Street, one block from the Pere Marquette Railroad Station. Beyer is promoting "Peptona," a tonic purported to build strength and vigor in those who suffer from the confinement of indoor work. Peptona includes iron, malt, manganese and the ubiquitous extract of cod liver oil.

The Plymouth United Savings Bank (the "big bank") which a few months later was to replace John Gale's store on the corner of Main and Penniman has an ad exuding the Protestant ethic, which had many more adherents in 1919 than it does in 1975. "Happiness," the ad declares, "is the logical result of thrift and independence."

MR. PLYMOUTH, disturbed at the inflationary trend of the economy, shakes his head as he reads the advertisement by an Ypsilanti clothier announcing that the price of men's clothing is going up.

Suits that once cost $40 now cost $70. "It can't be helped," explains the ad. "There simply isn't enough wool in the country."

Buried among the ads on page one is the local news. Included are reports on the sudden death of long-time resident Mrs. Alfred Lyons; on a change in train schedules on the Pere Marquette; on the opening of Oliver Martin's new dry goods store two doors north of the Plymouth Hotel on Main Street.

Mention is also made of a new serial about to begin in the "Mail." Entitled "The Man of Might," it has been novelized from the movie of the same name produced by Vitagraph. The movie is soon to run as a serial at the new Penniman-Allen Theatre.

Turning to page two, Mr. Plymouth learns that on May 3 the P & A will feature Alice Joyce in "Within the Law." Written by a scriptwriter apparently weaned on Deuteronomy, XIX, 21, it is about a heroine, "Sent to prison, innocent of the crime for which she was convicted, who goes forth with a vow of vengeance on her lips. Though she comes forth broken in spirit and health, she seeks out those who wronged her and makes them suffer as she has suffered."

On May 5, the cinema will show "a crook play," with Norma Talmadge heading the cast of "Deluxe Anne." On the same bill is a Harold Lloyd comedy, "Swing Your Partner." On May 7, Gladys Leslie stars in "The Mating," a movie in which the heroine spurs the man who "sacrificed his honor to place her above want."

The owner of the new movie house, Mrs. Kate E. Allen, has just purchased "a handsome new Cadillac Car," according to an item in the social column. Mrs. Allen, who built the Penniman-Allen Theatre in 1918, is a social figure of considerable prominence in the community. Three years later she will precipitate the Sunday Movie controversy which will divide the community into two camps.

Other social notes inform the reader that the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church will give a humble party on May 7; that Grover Simpson, who was quite badly kicked by a horse, is able to be out again; and that the Durand High School debating team is now champion of the eastern and western districts, "due to the careful and systematic coaching of Plymouth's Miss Ruth Huston."

AT THE Presbyterian Sunday School session last week, when Humane Sunday was celebrated, Mrs. Charles Bennett's parrot, "Cortez," was present and added his voice to the celebration.

Mr. Plymouth's eye catches a probate court commissioner's notice concerning the estate of his late friend, Alfred W. Chaffee. Mr. Chaffee was the salesman whose trip to Chicago, in the 1880s, resulted in the large order for air rifles which gave the Markham factory a boost during its first year in business.

Lot. It was in the building later occupied by Dave Galin's Appliance store. Anyone knowing the identifications of the other persons shown is urged to contact The Observer & Eccentric, 461 Main, Plymouth. (Photo reprinted with permission from "Plymouth Past and Present.")

'Sleuth' is a topnotch production

Ever since Edgar Allen Poe mystified readers with his classic novel, "Goldbug," the American public has been entranced with the detective yarn.

Today's mystery aficionados can experience a top-notch thriller for the next couple weekends as the Livonia-Redford Theater Guild presents Anthony Schaefer's "Sleuth," a fine rendition that will not only mystify, but amuse viewers.

The play is being presented Oct. 17-19 and Oct. 24 and 25. The curtain goes up at 7:30 p.m., except Sunday when playtime begins at 8:30 p.m. in the playhouse on Beech Daly, just south of Five Mile in Redford Township.

Directed by Ronald Outlakowski, the play opened this past weekend to a fullhouse of LRTG faithfuls.

Starring guild regulars Howard Egan and Warren Reinecker, the production is bound to be a highlight of the season. Both Egan, as Andrew Wyke, and Reinecker, as Milo Rindle, proved to be in top form throughout.

THE PLAY revolves around Wyke and Tindle's attempts to outwit one another with outrageous and outlandish mystery plots. It proves to be a deadly game.

Wyke is a middle-aged, moderately successful mystery writer, who discovers that Tindle is having an affair with his wife. Because of his overwhelming fascination with the mystery plot, Wyke turns the genre to get revenge on the unsuspecting lover.

It would be unjust to tell any more of the plot, for it twists and turns on every line. Let it suffice to say that the expertise with which the scenes are meshed keeps the viewer on the edge of his seat. The scene in which Wyke drags out a chestful of costumes in an attempt to persuade Tindle to break into the Wyke's estate is memorable. The viewer wonders what ruse Wyke could be contemplating. Is it murder of revenge?

THE CHEST'S contents reveal Wyke's sick mind. It is chock-full of weird costumes such as a Ku Klux Klan hood, a monk's garb and even the traditional face mask and sweater. Needless to say, the unsuspecting Tindle picks a clown's costume to carry out the burglary.

While the audience will find itself laughing through the first act, it will soon realize that all is not in jest. Much to the credit of the technical crew at LRTG, the change in mood is effectively demonstrated through subtle lighting changes.

One of the fascinating factors in community theater is the quality of production seen so often by such groups as the LRTG. From makeup, to setting, to sound effects, the production is carried out in a professional manner. The wheat is separated from the chaff in community theater when it comes to technical quality.

CONSISTENTLY, the LRTG offers top quality in its productions.

Egan is a seasoned community theater actor, having received the "Best Actor" award in 1961 at the Detroit-Windsor Theater Festival. Reinecker has been with the guild for six years, having appeared in numerous productions.

Even if you've seen the popular movie version, the LRTG production is well-worth your time.

For reservations, call Mrs. Gregory G. Nelson, 30742 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

Caution — love spells work

Day in and day out, year after year, more than half the letters that cross my desk continue to ask for love spells. Because of this, I have decided to devote this week's entire column to spells of that nature.

But please, let me offer one word of warning: Before you cast a spell of this kind upon another individual, be absolutely certain that you really want that person.

Hardly a week goes by that I don't also receive a few letters like this one:

Dear Gundella,

I tried the love spell you sent, and it worked. Now is there any way to break it? I've got him, and I find I don't really want him after all.

Laura,
Rochester, Mi

So I am offering these spells, but cautioning you to proceed carefully.

AMARYLLIS BULB

Get yourself an amaryllis bulb from a grocery store or nursery, and plant it according to directions on the package. It is best to get a red one, symbolizing passion. Name this plant after the man you love, and speak to it as if it were this man. Each morning, when you arise, go to the plant and say, "Good Morning," and tell it good night every night before you go to sleep.

Caress this plant and love it, just as if it really were this man. Never cry or be sad around this plant; always be happy and cheerful. As this flower grows, so will this man's love for you. And when the flower blossoms, his love for you will also bloom.

For an extra boost in the growth of this plant, try to obtain a small bit of your loved one's hair and place it in the soil with the bulb.

CANDLE LOVE SPELL

Obtain two candles, one in the shape of a man, the other the shape of a woman. You can buy such candles at various boutiques, and candle shops, but it is better if you make them yourself, using warm beeswax.

Shape the male candle to look like the man for whom the spell is being worked. The woman candle should resemble the woman involved in the spell. You don't have to be an artist. Just do the best you can. If the man is tall and thin, don't make a short, fat candle.

Dress these candles with a mixture of sandalwood and rose oil, with a few drops of patchouli added. Place each candle on a three-inch square of virgin parchment. Then place them on the floor so that the distance between them is equal to the average of the combined heights of the two people involved. (For example: If the man is six feet tall, and the woman is five feet tall, the candles should be placed five and a half feet apart.)

On the first night, burn the candles down to the necks, all the while thinking of his/her mind being consumed with thoughts of you. On the second night, move them halfway toward, the center and burn them to the waist, this time thinking of their hearts burning with love for each other. On the third and last night, place the candles together, facing each other, and burn them completely, thinking of the two being consumed by passion and desire.

While the candles burn each night, you should be resting and thinking only of the man or woman for whom the spell is worked. Picture them together, laughing and loving. Do not be sad, for happy vibrations are necessary if the spell is going to work. During the three nights you work the spell, you should be alone; avoid talking and being with others on these nights.

SPELL FOR A MAN TO WORK ON A WOMAN

Put a leaf from a tree (preferably ash) in your mouth, and turning to the sun, speak the following:

Sun of heat, Sun of light,
Bind my lover's heart tight.
Never let her run from me,
So our love will ever be.

Then take the ash leaf and cut it into 13 pieces, and add it to food that your love will eat. If she swallows just one section of the leaf, she'll be moved to true-hearted love as complete as yours.

CORIANDER LOVE SPELL

Crush seven coriander seeds together with one rose hip. Place this, with one-fourth cup distilled water, in a new cup which has never been used, and allow it to sit for 24 hours. If you are a woman, strain this liquid through a clean stocking which you have worn. A man may use one of his clean undershirts. Pour this liquid into a small bottle and carry it with you. The next time you are near the one you love, sprinkle this into his food or drink.

Regionalism bill opposed

Members of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees will add their disapproval of House Bill 5527 in the form of a letter stating their opposition.

Known as the Local Cooperation Act, the bill considers a permanent regional governmental arrangement, the Southeast Michigan Planning and Development Agency, with the responsibility for general purpose regional planning and development.

"Regionalism should never be used to bail out bankrupt cities," said Trustee Richard Gormick, in discussing the bill.

Trustee Frank Millington quoted from a Southeast Michigan Council of Governments stand on the bill calling it "unacceptable."

Clerk Helen Richardson said a letter was more effective than a resolution and the board was unanimous in its agreement.

Still Growing

After all our years of service to this community, we still haven't grown settled in our ways.

We still believe in making progress. The opening of our new funeral home on Six Mile Road last year is just one more example of this.

And we still believe in updating our service to be in keeping with the changing needs of those who turn to us.

Public trust, yes; more paper-pushing, no

The new political reform law which was rammed through the Legislature this year by Common Cause is already creating a storm of criticism here in the suburbs.

The main problem lies in a provision of the new act which requires appointed as well as elected local office holders to disclose their finances as well as those of their immediate family.

Recently all members of the Southfield Planning Commission threatened to resign en masse rather than comply with the law. Three members of the Westland City Council this week expressed grave reservations about the invasion of privacy involved in the act.

Other suburban officials, both elected and appointed, have made no secret of their private feelings about the new law and of their reluctance to make public comment for fear of being stigmatized as "anti-integrity."

THE LAW is designed to regulate conflicts of interest and ethics of public officials, candidates and members of their immediate families. Those covered must report the name, address and nature of any business service from which anything in excess of $1,000 in income was received, detail all real property with a market value of more than $1,000, and list the name and address of each creditor to whom more than $1,000 is owed and the terms of the obligation.

These are harsh provisions, and those advocating them argue powerfully that nothing less is required to insure that those in public office behave absolutely scrupulously.

They note, for example, that had the provisions of the law been in effect in 1974, former Troy city councilman and now Lt. Gov. James Damman would not have suffered the embarrassment he did when he and his investment partnership were charged with conflict of interest in connection with speculative land purchases in the city.

And they further argue that the terms of the new law treat directly the classical points of conflict of interest abuse in growing suburban communities—planning commissions and city councils, which between them determine land use and thereby value.

THE ARGUMENTS against the present law are also forceful.

Critics charge that revealing the finances of immediate family members is an invasion of privacy of people who are not public figures except through the mischance of marriage or birth.

"I asked my mother if she owes anybody any money," said Westland Council President Robert Wagner. "She told me it's none of my business. So I asked her if she was going to reveal her finances and she told me no."

Another criticism is that the law requires filings from office holders who receive no or little salary and who are in effect volunteering their time to help out their community. Local officials fear that with the reporting aggravation of the new law, capable people who might help their communities will simply decline to serve.

THE REAL problem is that the new law treats the vast majority of local officials who are honorable and honest as though they might be in the minority who are behaving inappropriately, and thereby increases the aggravation which any public servant undergoes. In the long run, this can only further reduce the pool of competent people who might become public servants, and thereby hurts us all.

On balance, I favor a tougher law to insure high ethics over a weaker law. Public confidence in office holders' integrity so critical to a democratic system that it validates a lot of aggravation.

However, it seems clear to me that the bureaucratic method of filing endless reports to validate appropriate behavior of office holders is a substantial aggravation which is likely to drive more good people out of public service than not. Another method needs to be found.

Water board rule: Only henchmen allowed

Robert A. Reid of Birmingham is a member of the State Carnival-Amusement Safety Board until July 10, 1976, and Joseph F. Davey of Bloomfield Hills is a member of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission until April 12, 1979.

Carol Murray of Livonia is on the State Cemetery Commission until March 9, 1976, and Irving W. Rozian of Plymouth will serve on the State Boundary Commission at least until Nov. 15, when his current term ends.

William M. Ellmann of Farmington has a term on the State Employees Relations Commission that runs until next June 30, Molly Ann Beitner of Southfield will be on the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board until Feb. 1, 1977, George D. Yatch of Troy has a seat on the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners until at least June 18.

Arthur W. Saltzman of Franklin will be on the Oakland University board until next Aug. 11, and John W. Cartwright of Orchard Lake has a term on the Saginaw Valley College board that runs all the way to 1981.

Edward H. McNamara of Livonia had a term on the Detroit Metropolitan Water Board until last week, when it expired at the whim of Mayor Coleman A. Young.

A STRANGE THING, that Detroit city charter. Almost every citizen board of a quasi-judicial or quasi-legislative body has staggered terms of office. One reason is to avoid having everyone's terms expire at once, creating a personnel staffing problem. Another reason is to have some continuity, some seniority, in boards that run interference between the public and the bureaucrat.

A secretary of state serves at the pleasure of the president, the state labor director at the pleasure of the governor, the public works director at the pleasure of the mayor or city manager. Those are administrative jobs, and the department head carries out the will of the top executive.

That's why it was extremely unusual to learn that Detroit's mayor could bounce one of seven members of the water board at the drop of a hat. A regulatory agency like the Metropolitan Water Board isn't usually subject to instant political pressure in a normal political environment.

ONE EXPECTS that kind of bizarre procedure, however, from Detroit politics.

What is supposed to be a seven-member board exercising independent judgment turns out, instead, to be an arm of the mayor. One wonders why there is even a seven-member board. Under such circumstances, Detroit may as well let the DMWD director be an appointee of the mayor and forget the mockery of that puppet board.

McNamara got the old heave-ho because he had been blowing the whistle on what he felt were faulty budget figures and a sewerage rate hike that would make suburbanites pay for internal improvements for the City of Detroit.

Whether McNamara was technically right or wrong is irrelevant at this point. More important are such questions as these:

1. If 91 communities are plugged into the Detroit water system, how do 90 of those communities get any fair representation on the water board when Mayor Young, under Detroit's charter, can fire a supposedly independent board member at will?

2. Considering that Detroit has only about a quarter of the tri-county area's population, where's the fairness in giving the non-Detroit area only three of the seven board members?

CLEARLY, WE ALL need an improved system for setting water and sewerage rates.

Is the answer to a state law repairing Detroit's hack charter?

Is it to place the DMWD under the state Public Service Commission, which regulates all other utilities?

Is the answer to set up truly regional system to provide a regional service, perhaps under the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments?

Whatever the answer, it's clear that folks dealing with a monopoly water and sewerage system are at the mercy of a mayor who has repeatedly made it clear he has no respect for most of them.

Little guys get some big loopholes

There is always talk in Washington about closing the loopholes in the income tax laws.

The conversations usually revolve around the parts of the Internal Revenue Code which allow the so-called wealthy to reduce the taxes they pay.

You hear about eliminating the oil depletion allowance and the preference on capital gain income, and taxing those wealthy people who avoid federal income tax through the use of tax-free municipal bonds or tax shelters in cattle or real estate.

But, if the people of the United States really want to close the loopholes in the tax laws and increase substantially the revenue the government receives from income taxes, they are barking up the wrong tree.

CLOSING OF THE loopholes for the wealthy may be an emotional cry, but because there are so few wealthy, the money gained wouldn't amount to a lot of dollars.

If you want to eliminate loopholes that would create significant revenue to the government, the first thing that must be repealed is the $750 deduction per dependent that taxpayers are allowed to take. This is highly discriminatory because it favors large families, and we all know that the government should not be encouraging large families as we seek zero population growth.

Another area where there are huge loopholes is the non-taxation of welfare, social security and unemployment compensation benefits.

THESE PAYMENTS are made in lieu of earned income and the spirit of the tax law is that whenever people receive benefits that would have been taxed if they had received them in the ordinary way, the benefits should be taxed.

Another loophole that should be eliminated is the deduction for medical expenses. This puts the government in the medical insurance business and it discriminates against healthy people.

Obviously, the loophole allowing home owners to deduct property taxes and the interest on their mortgage is highly discriminatory because it encourages a person to want to own his own home and discriminates against the poor who can't afford to buy their own home.

THE BIGGEST LOOPHOLE, of course, in our federal tax system, is the graduated income tax.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

When the United States Constitution was amended in 1913 to provide for the income tax, it was the intention of the proponents of the tax law that all people would be taxed on an equal basis, with a flat rate of 1 per cent across-the-board income tax.

There is no place in the Constitution or in the documents of the Constitution writers that America should be built on the principle of soak the rich.

Editor:

In the past, Hank Hogan's "Eccentricities" has aroused an urge to respond that was, until this moment, left unfulfilled. But his recent editorial concerning Jimmy Hoffa's disappearance defies any standard of good taste.

Hogan's theme (it was good for business) makes his effort at journalism more appropriate to an underground propaganda sheet than a generally responsible suburban newspaper.

More acutely than anyone else, union members have felt the effect of Hoffa's tendency to violence and gangsterism. Most understand that unions have premised their quest for better living conditions on the force of reason rather than dynamite.

Hoffa's life, ultimately becoming a mirror of conditions which confronted him earlier, was a repudiation of these principles. That being the case, Hogan and this UAW member share a common view of him.

However, to place Jimmy Hoffa in an editorial, the ethic of which bases the worth of a human being on his use or disservice to business, says as much about its writer as the subject. Jimmy Hoffa dealt with the world in terms that were natural to his environment. So does Hogan—the sword and the pen.

That is not to say that Hank Hogan and Jimmy Hoffa are to be equated or that he would willfully harm anyone. It merely says that the writer of a flippant, cynical editorial can share the same distortion of values as a man whose life denied the intrinsic worth of a human being.

ELDON CHURCHILL, Livonia

Neither-nor grey is fashionable

Editor:

Black and white answers in today's world are scorned; indistinguishable grey sets the fashionable keynote. Neither-nor grey has motivated reds, whites and bicentennial blues.

The night lies deep across our land from Ellis Isle to Baja's strand. Scattered light now dimly seen as transgressions' fog conceals the green of mountain peaks that once pressed high are leveled low as downcast eye.

Men abandon honor's style pursuing profits acrid guile and press their image on our land polluted, vicious and profaned. Righteousness beneath the sod. Is this our nation "under God"?

Far from the rock, were we did stand now on its desecrated land we in scorn avert our face from His purpose, from His grace to point our fingers stiff with pride to gods called goals, unsatisfied, our props of poison, that rest upon distracted daughters, bewildered sons. Voiding whispers, scattered, faint, are there none to make complaint?

Where are the few that God has called? Sit they content behind their walls? Walls of apathy and dread, walls of fear in hearts of lead? Selfish walls content to peep, free from struggle, free from grief?

Men cluck and moan yet will not see God speaks of this in history. Christ still commands, pick up the cross no man by Me shall suffer loss. Put on your cross the bred deceit, hate and error, masks effete. Come My way, or not at all. By Me men fail and nations fall.

Yet man cries boasting "God is dead," while unaware, he dies instead.

Create in us, oh God, our hope, new hearts and minds, that we might cope until the day You come again. Our God, our Christ, Our Lord, our King.

Profiles in government

Smith's prime concern: roads

An Observer & Eccentric series profiling western Wayne County commissioners continues this week with a story on Royce Smith. Past issues have presented interviews with Tom Taylor, Mary Dumas and John Barr; a profile of Richard Manning will be the final feature. All stories in the series were written by Martha Mahan.

Some call him an "old fogey." He looks relaxed and rustic in a carelessly adjusted dark suit coat. His receding hairline goes halfway up his head.

He's genial and witty with a homespun humor.

And, "old fogey" or no, he was shrewd enough to operate in the cut-throat oil business for 25 years — and sharp enough to get out of it when he saw the energy fiasco loom.

He knows how to wangle his way through politics, both as a small town mayor and as a member of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and its predecessor, the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

That, in cameo, is Royce E. Smith, Democrat of Belleville, whose 27th District includes Plymouth and Canton Township.

"I DON'T WANT to say I'm prejudiced, but I saw Detroit taking the lion's share of Wayne County money back in 1950 and it irks me to this day," said Smith explaining why he originally sought a seat on the old board of supervisors.

"It's not as bad now," he said. "In those days outcounty residents were paying 58 per cent of the county tax income and Detroit was paying 42 per cent and getting 52 per cent. There's a better balance now."

What's his chief interest now as a commissioner?

"Roads," he declared. "Roads are the biggest problem in western Wayne County. Why there are roads in Canton Township you can't get through."

"I took a picture of one car sitting in the road with mud up to the headlights, and I sent that picture to the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington. I wanted some federal money allocated to local roads."

"During a recent Washington trip, I got an appointment with the chief domestic counsel at the White House, and he's pretty close to the President," Smith said. "I sat down and explained to him about the road situation, and I talked federal money for local roads."

"I told him how all that money was earmarked for state trunkline highways. I don't know whether I did any good or not, but I understand some of the money now is to go to the states for them to allot."

"I'd prefer for it to go to the counties for allotment to local roads, but the state could allot it that way."

ANOTHER SCRAP he's engaged in, Smith said, involves the road stretch where Joy goes over I-275.

"It needs lights, and the state says the township must pay for them and that's wrong," he insisted. "Why, the township people didn't even want the road, and I don't see any reason why the state shouldn't pay for the lights."

Then there's a condominium in Canton Township whose owners want to dedicate the roads to the county. But the county can't accept the roads, Smith said, because the builder neglected to plat the area.

"It cost them a tremendous amount for snow removal last winter," Smith said, "and they pay county taxes, too."

WHILE SOME of the affairs which engage Smith's attention may seem small potatoes for a county commissioner, they also disclose an underlying political deftness.

Smith insists he "sort of likes people with their problems" and that "anything anyone calls me about, I get after it."

But his personal service philosophy reflects the method which gave Smith himself 11 years as mayor of Belleville.

Targeting roads as an issue shows an eye to burgeoning Canton Township and its growing voter bloc.

Along the same line is his support of continued sheriff's road patrol service to townships.

"We only got an extension of the service to Nov. 1 through by one vote," he said, "and I expect a big fight when actual budget allocations come up."

SMITH CLAIMS he can give more

personal attention to his electorate because he works at his commission job full-time.

"I promised during the campaign that I would work full-time and I haven't gotten away with a 48 hour week yet."

"My phone number is listed, and anybody who's got a problem can call. They may not get the answer they want, but they'll get an answer."

As a matter of fact, Smith thinks the job of county commissioner should be full-time because of the "mammoth amount of money and problems" the board handles.

He's opposed to creation of a chief executive for the county board.

"In spite of anything anyone could do, he'd be from the City of Detroit," Smith declared.

"Besides, we'd probably be adding $150,000 a year in expenses for salary, staff and offices."

Full-time commissioners would answer the need for efficiency advanced by those favoring a chief executive, Smith argues.

"That way we could have a ways and means committee meeting and a meeting of the full board the same day," he said, "or have one meet one day and the other the next."

WHERE WOULD he cut the county budget to meet an anticipated shortage?

"Well, that's the $64 question," Smith drawled, looking ceilingward. "I'd say by dropping those federal programs we picked up where we paid 15 to 20 per cent of the cost the first year and the federal government paid the rest. Now we have to pay them entirely, without federal help."

"They are good programs, and I'm a liberal on people's programs, but we wouldn't have had them if the federal government hadn't paid most of the initial cost."

"But now they've got to go. If you haven't got the money, you can't pay."

Smith also would hold down salaries and cut the number of administrative personnel.

"I made some friends mad, but I voted against pay raises for some people making $30,000. I think there are too many of them in county government—more than are needed."

SMITH ASKED for and received appointment to the public works committee and chortles at the recollection.

"We maneuvered an outcounty majority on the committee and did it before Detroit realized what was happening," he grinned. "And any money has to come out of our committee."

Smith is the father of five children: Richard, 35; Paul, 27; Charles, 25; and twins, Ruth Ann and Elvis, 19.

He expressed anger at intimations he used his influence to get his son a job at the county jail.

"He's planned on going into law enforcement since he was in the eighth grade," Smith said.

"HE GRADUATED from Michigan State University with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice last September. After graduation, he went to the sheriff's department and put in an application to be a temporary patrolman. I didn't even know it."

SMITH LIKES to trace his work ethic back to his childhood.

"My Dad was an old Southern farmer who believed that anyone who didn't work 12 hours a day and go to church twice on Sunday was lazy. I guess a little rubbed off on me."

School lunches

They get the spotlight in cafeterias here and in Washington

By MARGARET MILLER

In halls of government in Washington and in school cafeterias in Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland and Plymouth, the school lunch, Type A version, gets a spotlight this week.

Because it is National School Lunch Week, a number of local schools are joining many others across the country in serving fare that fits the Type A nutrition standards and still pleases young taste buds.

That lunch, not surprisingly, is a cheeseburger, French fries, cole slaw, canned peaches and milk.

Many of the young cafeteria patrons who put it on their trays Wednesday received it either free or at reduced cost under a federally-funded nutrition program.

AND EVEN as they gobbled the burger and fries and filled gaps with the slaw and peaches and milk, there were strong indications that their number may be greatly increased by the new federal school lunch bill.

That bill, which made headlines a week ago when President Gerald Ford vetoed it as inflationary and then Congress overrode the veto convincingly, sets new and substantially higher income limits to qualify for free or reduced-rate lunches.

That means, for example, that a child from a family of four would be eligible for a reduced rate lunch—20 cents in the Livonia district—if the family income were $12,207 or lower. The income limit for a family of six would be $15,814.50.

In these middle-income suburbs, that could make a big difference if all eligible should apply for the subsidized lunches.

PROBABLY THAT won't happen, said Gerry Tobin, Livonia food services director who has been delighted this year to see the government-approved Type A lunch return to her district after an absence of a couple of years.

"Families are proud, and many who would qualify don't apply now," Mrs. Tobin said.

"But maybe that will change with this newest bill. The reduced rate takes away the feeling of the lunch being charity, and people pay taxes and this is a way to get a return on them."

MRS. TOBIN, viewing the cafeteria scene from a nutritional standpoint, would not be sorry to see that happen.

Free lunches and reduced-rate lunches must be Type A rather than the a la carte variety that many students choose, she explained, so serving more of these would mean better nutrition for more people.

She added that the federal government pays a certain portion of the cost of serving all of the Type A lunches that meet its nutritional standards, as well as picking up the whole tab for free lunches and a bigger portion for the reduced-cost ones.

With Type A lunches newly restored to Livonia's junior and senior high cafeterias and with no hot lunch program in this district's elementary schools, the total number of free and reduced-rate lunches still is low.

BUT IN THE Garden City district, where Type A has had steady emphasis, the number is greater and the food services director, Mrs. Margaret Wagner, also would like to see more applicants.

"I expect we will have new guidelines," she said, "and of course we will have to wait and see how much of the new money goes to the big cities and how much of it finds its way to areas like Garden City."

"But yes, I would be glad to serve more free and reduced lunches because it would mean better nutrition. The Type A lunch has stayed pretty popular here, even in the high schools where there is the a la carte choice. The kids realize you get more and it's more filling."

FREE AND REDUCED-RATE lunches are an important part in the lunch programs in Redford Union and Plymouth districts.

Mrs. Mary LaCroix, Redford Union food services head, said in September there were 4,481 free lunches and 707 at a reduced cost served in the district's 10 schools, including elementary. In addition, there was free milk for 600 children.

Last year, she added, the school served 31,000 Type A lunches, including the free and reduced-rate ones.

Raymond Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business in the Plymouth district, set the September figures there at 3,679 free and 64 reduced.

Livonia's return to Type A lunch

Economics led the Livonia school district away from the Type A school lunch several years ago, and economics has joined with nutrition in bringing it back.

The district, explained Mrs. Gerry Tobin, food services director, concluded four years ago it was not economically feasible to continue the start-from-scratch preparation that went into the nutritionally approved lunches that had been its pride.

"So that's when we went into a la carte items four years ago in the junior highs and two years ago in the high schools," she said.

"And in doing so, we leaned mainly on the convenience foods that were available, things like frozen pizza and canned chili and sauces."

This meant some new acceptance from students who tend to be finicky in their food tastes, and it cut the kitchen costs that had risen sharply in the Livonia district.

But nutritionists like Mrs. Tobin worried about empty calories and the district found finances still a problem because the government does not have subsidies for lunches that are not of the approved, Type A variety.

So Livonia this year is back to a Type A lunch each day, served along with the a la carte items.

"But with a difference," says Mrs. Tobin. "Now we are using convenience foods in the Type A menus just as much as possible. By careful planning, we've found we can get the Type A in without increasing labor costs."

The new program is gaining some acceptance among students, she said. She figures this will increase "as we get into it more and I can offer more things like hamburgers and pizza and chili on the menus and later give a choice of more than one Type A selection."

Peggy Price (standing) goes over plans for a widowhood seminar at Schoolcraft College

Widowhood is focus of Schoolcraft seminar

Aware of statistics indicating three out of four married women will someday be left alone, the community services department and the Newman Center of Schoolcraft College is planning a day-long seminar called "Coping with Widowhood" to take place Saturday, Oct. 25.

Dr. Phyllis R. Silverman of the Harvard Medical School will be keynote speaker at the event to be held in Waterman Center on the campus from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Employed at Harvard's laboratory of community psychiatry, Dr. Silverman is the originator of the self help widow-to-widow program and has authored and edited a number of books on the subject, including "Helping Each Other in Widowhood."

"WIDOWS HAVE told us there is a need for serving widowed persons, both men and women, in the community, but they don't know how to begin," said Betty Andrews of the community services department.

"We hope this seminar will provide the spark that will cause people in communities, organizations and agencies all over the metropolitan area to start programs for those who have been widowed."

Peggy Price, a conference planner, noted that "we want to make the community aware of the issue of widowhood."

She said, "We want to place widowed people in touch with community resource people, and put together a community network for people who are alone. Lots of things could be done with them."

"Schoolcraft College has fantastic resources to aid groups decide which way they want to go. It can help be an advocate for the whole issue."

PARTICIPATING in the workshop will be a panel of representatives from community organizations serving widowed persons.

June Shada of the continuing education department of the Detroit school district, will moderate.

Two of the panelists are Ann Stinson, a funeral director who has developed a widow-to-widow program, and Faye Ross of Parents Without Partners, who is also senior citizens and veterans advisor for Redford Township.

Also on the panel will be Lewis Cassabon, a widower who is president of the Wayne chapter of Naim, a group which takes its name from the biblical town of Naim where Jesus showed compassion for the widow Naim.

Kaye Gilley is another panelist. She is founder of Sealarks, a group of single adults. The sixth panel member is Peggy Price, who will represent Schoolcraft's community services department.

WE HOPE the seminar will make widowed people realize there are a number of people out there who are doing their thing for the widowed, and want to do more," said Sister Margaret Basso of Newman Center.

"One of their greatest needs is to come in contact with other widowed persons who can help them through the painful transition from being married to being widowed and help them accept the fact of their widowhood."

Tickets for the seminar are $6 and include lunch. Registration deadline is Friday, Oct. 17. Forms and further information may be obtained by contacting community services at the college.

Retarded children benefit

RSL to show fashions

Holiday and fur fashions, television star Dennis Wholey and the facilities of Fairlane Manor in Dearborn will star in this fall's effort by the Redford Suburban League to raise funds for handicapped and retarded children.

The League will present Autumn Haze, a fashion show and luncheon, on Wednesday, Nov. 19, beginning at 11:30 a.m. in the new facility located at 19000 Hubbard, south of Ford Road and east of Evergreen.

Tickets are $10, and all proceeds will be used to further the RSL's work with handicapped children.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Kay Kakaras, 14874 Seneca, or Mrs. Marie Hammond, 14851 Seneca, both of Redford Township.

Plans for the day include cocktails from 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon, luncheon at 12, and at 1 p.m. a program beginning with a talk by special guest Dennis Wholey and continuing with fashions by Michele's of Grosse Pointe.

Wholey, host of AM Detroit on Channel 7, will tell of some of his experiences as producer, director, actor, comedy performer and writer.

In his present spot on the weekday show that is screened from 10:30 to 11:30 Mondays through Fridays, he has gained a reputation for relaxed interviews with local guests.

His earlier talk-variety show was syndicated in 30 areas in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Kakaras is chairman for the Suburban League's ways and means committee, which is in charge of the event.

Others working on the fashion show are Eve Reno, vice chairman, and Doris Studley, joining Mrs. Hammond in taking care of ticket sales.

Also involved in various committee jobs are Paula Berry, Coleen Heaton, June Bellucci, Jane Provengano, Mary Urban, Lee Gillard, Jenine Duprey, Ginny Burkhardt, Mary Lou Frederickson, Audrey Marhoffer, Doris Kalic, Ruth Sullivan, Kitty Flynn and Roberta Klimeck.

May Wyatt, head of the cafeteria at Churchill High School in Livonia, shows the cheeseburger-fries-slaw-peaches-milk lunch that was served all over the country this week in honor of National School Lunch Week. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

"I think that will increase," he said, "both because the district is growing and because of the economy."

Wayne-Westland and South Redford districts reported small numbers of free lunches served. The latter, for the first time this year, has eliminated the Type A lunch from its program.

ALL DISTRICTS, in determining who should receive subsidized lunches, send letters home to the families at the beginning of the school year and receive applications in return.

This will be done again after the guidelines of the new bill go from Washington to state capitols and then the local districts are informed, probably after the first of the year.

In all cases, care is taken so that the students receiving free or reduced rate lunches are not made conspicuous.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Holy Cross College and Wayne State University, is serving his residency at Hutzel Hospital in Detroit. A late October wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brocklehurst of Redford Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to John Jacob Pollak, son of Mrs. Bernie Ode of Marlette, Mich., and the late Jack Pollak. The bride-to-be has a bachelor degree from Alma College and a master's from Michigan State University, and her fiancé is a graduate of Central Michigan University. Both are employed by the Farmington school district. They plan to be married in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Aspinwall of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Ann Aspinwall, to Donald Lee Gillikin Jr., son of Donald L. Gillikin of Dearborn Heights. The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Churchill High School and a student at Wayne State University. Her fiancé graduated from Crestwood High School in 1971 and attends Pepperdine University in Los Angeles while serving in the U.S. Marine Corps, stationed at El Toro Air Station at Santa Ana. The couple plan to be married Dec. 12 in Grace Lutheran Church, Redford Township.

Adventure club plans outing

A fall color canoe trip will be the kick-off activity of the Adventure Club, a new outdoor activity organization for men and women formed by the Northwest Branch YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township.

To take place Saturday, Oct. 18, the tour will be along a 7½ mile stretch of the Huron River from Delhi Metropolitan Park to Argo Park Canoe Livery in Ann Arbor.

The canoe trip below Delhi Rapids involves three short portages.

The Y suggests that participants dress for the weather as the trip will go rain or shine. Cost for YWCA members is $7.26, for non-members, $9.25. The fee includes canoe rental, lunch and insurance. You must provide your own transportation to the canoe livery.

Other activities of the club will be hiking, cross-country skiing, backpacking, horseback riding, biking and survival techniques.

For further information contact Barb Radabaugh at the YWCA.

Volleyball course offered

A four-week course to teach men and women to officiate women's volleyball games will begin Monday, Oct. 20 from 7 to 9 p.m. in Ford High School gymnasium, 20000 Evergreen, Detroit.

The class is sponsored by community services programs of Wayne County Community College and will cost $5.50. It carries half a credit at the college.

Edith Glusac, sports official and trainer, will be instructor for the course which will emphasize rules and practical experience in game situations.

To register call or write the community services office of WCCC, 163 Madison, Detroit. Registration must be completed by Oct. 15.

Center seeks volunteers

Volunteers for research and counseling are needed by the women's resource center at Schoolcraft College.

Community research volunteers are needed to explore various topics of interest to women such as education and employment opportunities, social services and legal rights.

The center also needs persons interested in receiving training to work as peer counselor volunteers. Basic training for peer counseling involves learning interpersonal communication skills and problem-solving skills.

Peer counseling volunteers should contact Peggy Price in the community services office at the college before Monday, Oct. 20. Candidates will be interviewed and then attend training sessions in November.

A third category of volunteer wanted is one-to-one resource volunteers. These should be people who have undergone specific life experiences such as a natural childbirth, parenting, returning to school or employment, menopause, divorce, widowhood or alcoholism, and are willing to share their insight on a one-to-one basis with others.

Those interested may contact Susan Durkin in the community services office of the college.

Prospective workshop seeks clients

Retarded or handicapped adults who would benefit from a sheltered workshop in this area are being sought by the Wayne County Association for the Retarded.

The organization, a service-oriented agency formed in the county through the Michigan Department of Mental Health, is attempting to locate and identify persons who would use such a center.

The hope is that enough persons over 25 and not now employed can be found so that a center in the northwest portion of the county can be opened.

The local affiliate of the county group, the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens, is assisting in the search for persons who would benefit from a work activity center.

Similar centers now in operation in other parts of the metropolitan area provide retarded trainable adults with the opportunity to be enriched and given more normal lives through work and socialization.

Information on persons who might benefit from such a facility should be forwarded to the Wayne County Association for the Retarded, 701 Parklane Towers West, Dearborn, 48126, or Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens, Box 2505, Livonia, 48151.

Family crafts at St. Matthew

A varied lineup of arts and crafts—with emphasis on the kind that can be shared as family fun—will be found in St. Matthew United Methodist of Livonia Saturday, Oct. 18.

The church's second annual Arts and Crafts Festival will follow the successful format begun last year, said chairman Sarah Shoemaker. "but with minor variations that we think are going to make it even better."

The show is planned from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the church located on Six Mile just east of Merriman. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Shoemaker said the main differences this year will be addition of several new crafts, like the nearly forgotten art of tatting, and the emphasis on including the entire family.

"WE THINK WE have a lineup of displays that will attract men and children as well as the women who usually are most interested in shows like this."

And again, she added, the "major thrust of the show will be on demonstrations."

"We believe that many people are interested in arts and crafts and anxious to learn more about them," Mrs. Shoemaker went on, "so we want our festival to allow as much participation as possible by the public."

ONE SPOT where everyone in the family will be able to participate is a booth where Mrs. Jeri Cupp will show bread dough sculpture.

She'll show how youngsters can make bread dough ornaments for the Christmas tree as well as setting out

Jeri Cupp gives her children, Kendra, 6, and Darcy, 4, an advance look at the bread dough demonstration she will give in the St. Matthew examples of the more intricate pieces that can be fashioned in dough. Leatherwork and cupcake-decorating are two more crafts designed especially for children.

Al Guilvostorf will have a booth on metal sculpture and a special display of model trains in several different gauges. Also designed to interest male visitors will be a wood carving display by Bob Bartuff.

"AGAIN THIS YEAR," Mrs. Shoemaker said, "most of the exhibitors will be members of St. Matthew church. We are very proud of them and their willingness to take this day out to share their crafts with the community."

Mrs. Shoemaker will demonstrate needlework, along with Carolyn Maquire and Lucy Sandberg, who also will show apple dolls. Brenda Fandrei will have a macrame display and Ann Larkin will have hooked rugs.

Other displays are by Alexander Love, paintings; Jane Beatty and Barbara Larcinesi, acorn and pine cone dolls; Eveline Ronan, decoupage; Betty Milatz, macrame; and Bob Maguire, leatherwork.

Dorothy Suchner will demonstrate weaving; Marcelle Hall, cake decorating; Pat Melville, crochet and weaving; Helen Johnston, tatting; Linda Zick, porcelain dolls; Evelyn Honderick, lace; Debi Horie, painting and metal sculpture; and Ellen Horie, chair caning.

Workshop set at Ladywood

Kaleidoscope '75, a Detroit Archdiocese workshop on religious education for elementary school children, will be conducted at Ladywood High School in Livonia Friday, Oct. 17.

Ladywood is one of four locations for the instruction that is expected to draw some 4,000 educators and parents. The hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the charge is $3.50 per person, with advance registration recommended.

Among the speakers will be James Zimmerman, religious education coordinator for St. Dunstan parish in Garden City and Helen Marks, who fills a similar spot for St. Damian Parish in Westland.

The workshop also is scheduled in University of Detroit High School Oct. 16 and Our Lady of Mercy High School in Farmington Oct. 19.

Japanese visitors bring flying fish to Calvary Baptist

By MARGARET MILLER

Huge silken fish fly this week over Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth, symbolizing a mission conference in progress there and a mission family visiting from Japan.

Three brightly-colored carp and a set of streamers were brought from Toyama City, located on the Sea of Japan, by the family of Aki Uchida, a missionary pastor who has brought his wife, son and three daughters to a furlough year in Plymouth.

The fish are being flown on the church flagpole below the American flag this week because Calvary Baptist, located on Joy Road east of Main, is marking a full schedule of events for its annual World Mission Conference.

Aki Uchida and his wife, Hisako, are participating in the conference, along with their four children, Hijiri, 13; Patrick, 11; Faith, 10; and Grace, 8, and several other mission families.

A highlight of the week of special services comes tonight (Thursday) when several hundred members of Calvary will gather for the annual missionary Christmas banquet and presentation of love gifts to be given to missions the church helps support.

The Rev. Douglas Routledge, pastor, said that amount should be more than $2,600.

ACTUALLY, the fish symbols of the conference are a little out of season. In Japan, they are flown on Boys' Day, which is a national holiday marked on May 5.

"The families fly them in thankfulness for sons," said Rev. Uchida, explaining that the big silk carp, each set including a fish with streamers, a father, a mother and a son, are placed on bamboo poles over the houses during the Boys' Day season.

The fish flying over Calvary are a gift from one of Rev. Uchida's neighbors in Toyama City.

"He said he wanted them to fly in the unpolluted American skies," the visiting minister said. "When we fly the carp in Japan, everything is so crowded—they look different here."

The carp, Rev. Uchida added, is not a waste fish as it is here but rather is considered the king of fish. It grows very large and is gold or silver or beautifully colored, like a large version of its American relative, the goldfish. It also is edible.

"The carp is admired by the Japanese people for its shape and beauty and great strength," Rev. Uchida went on. "It can swim against the current and up over waterfalls, and it's because of this that the people use it as a symbol. They want their sons to grow up the same way."

THE UCHIDA FAMILY has had ties with Calvary Baptist over a number of years.

The father, who grew up in western Canada, received seminary training at the Prairie Bible Institute in Alberta and then spent some time at the Missionary Internship in Farmington.

That training program sends its students to work in nearby churches, and Rev. Uchida was assigned to Calvary to begin a friendship that has spanned two decades.

Going to Japan with both financial and spiritual backing from the Calvary congregation, he set about a work under the Japan Evangelical Mission.

THIS WORK has seen him establish three mission churches—"we start from scratch each time"—as well as meeting and marrying Hisako, a convert from Buddhism, and establishing a family.

This is the third visit for the Uchidas as a family to Plymouth and Calvary. Six years ago they came and stayed for a year, and they are doing the same thing this time.

During the year Aki will visit churches and colleges and will be available also as a speaker for other groups. Hisako, making rapid strides in mastering English, also will be willing to visit groups and tell of the work in Japan. Aki hopes to take a couple of courses at Detroit Bible College beginning the first of the year.

The children are attending Plymouth schools for the year, Hijiri and Patrick at West Middle School and Faith and Grace at Smith.

Patrick is enjoying the chance to learn to play both trumpet and violin and all four find school in this country "bigger and easier."

REV. RICHARD MCGARRY Fr. McGarry at St. Raphael in Garden City

The Rev. Richard McGarry is the new co-pastor of St. Raphael the Archangel Catholic Church in Garden City.

He will serve with the Rev. Charles O'Neil, and his move from St. Patrick parish at Union Lake marks the second time the two have worked together.

In 1965, when Fr. O'Neil was pastor of Madonna parish in Detroit, Fr. McGarry served as a deacon there.

Fr. McGarry worked in the personnel field at General Motors Corp. and served in the U.S. Air Force before entering the priesthood.

He studied at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit and St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth and was ordained in 1966.

While at St. Patrick, he was vicar of the Vicariate of the Lakes.

Bible club begins meeting

A Bible club for children in grades kindergarten through six is beginning Tuesday meetings in the Perrinville school, Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road, Westland, from 3:30 to 4 p.m.

A team of four teachers is in charge of the instruction sponsored by the Christian Business Men's Committee of Detroit. The meeting began Oct. 14 and will continue through March.

Children wishing to attend must bring a note signed by a parent. More information on the club is available by calling Mrs. John Kosinski, 8744 Farmington Road, Westland.

Concert afterglow

cert. Plymouth Symphony Society board member Don Morelock and his wife, Kitty, (right) were part of the group attending the opening of the orchestra's 30th season and post-concert festivities. (Staff photo)

Plymouth Symphony lives up to reputation with Raab

By SUE ROSIEK

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Emil Raab, opened its 30th season last weekend, and once again lived up to its reputation of musical excellence.

The orchestra's tone was good and the musicians played with zest under Raab's baton.

Raab is substituting for Conductor Wayne Dunlap, who is recuperating from a heart attack. Dunlap will return to the Plymouth stage later this season.

Raab's stage manner is a bit more flamboyant than Dunlap's, however, he gets the job done. The orchestra's balance is fine and the there is a noticeable improvement in the string section.

Raab, an accomplished violinist, led the Plymouth Symphony in 1954-55 while Dunlap was in Vienna on a Fulbright Scholarship. Raab is on the faculty of Bowling Green State University in Ohio and commutes to Plymouth for orchestra sessions.

Joining Raab and the 90-member orchestra was Leslie Eitzen singing "Les Nuits d'Ete" ("Summer Nights"), a collection of songs by Hector Berlioz.

Her mezzo-soprano voice was robust, clear and on target. Mrs. Eitzen's rendition was an entertaining addition to Sunday's program.

Mrs. Eitzen has taught at Schoolcraft College and the University of Michigan. She previously has sang with the Plymouth Symphony, she also has performed with the Michigan Opera Association.

Other selections in the season opener included Randall Thompson's Symphony No. 2, a composition which gave the horn, trumpet and string sections a chance to display their musical abilities.

"Jubilant" overture by Robert Ward opened the concert. Ward, an American composer, wrote most of this piece during the campaign of Leyte and Okinawa while he was a bandleader. In conclusion, the orchestra performed Maurice Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloee," a pastoral love story that ends in a joyous tumultuous dance. Although a magnificent piece it also is very difficult, it was a stirring end to an afternoon of fine music.

The next performance of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be Sunday, Nov. 9 at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

This group is one of the finer semi-professional groups in the area. From the sound of Sunday's concert the upcoming season promises to be musically exciting for symphonygoers in northwestern Wayne county.

Esch bill bucks state rail abandonment

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has introduced a bill which would prevent rail abandonments in Michigan and other states from going into effect without full congressional consideration.

"There are more than a dozen major rail abandonment bills which would seek to subsidize branch lines for periods of time from one to 10 years. I believe that some action will be taken to protect lines from immediate abandonment," Esch said.

"But under present procedures there is no way that the question of branch line abandonment can possibly be resolved prior to the date that the final system plan for the northeast rail system is scheduled to go into effect."

Under present procedures, the final system plan will automatically go into effect by mid-November, "including the abandonment of more than 1,100 miles of rail line in Michigan. I believe that many of these lines are essential to Michigan industry and to Michigan workers," Esch said.

Esch noted that present congressional plans would let the Final Systems Plan go into effect through "silence" while working on implementing amendments and national rail revitalization questions.

The Esch bill will postpone final consideration of the rail reorganization for 60 legislative days. "The FSP at this point raises more questions than it answers," Esch said, "not the least of which is the total cost of the package."

Autograph king displays book

Gene Reeves, the "autograph king" of Canton Township, will display what he says is the world's largest autograph book in Northville for a benefit this weekend.

The book will be on display in Northville Square, 133 W. Main, Friday through Sunday. Reeves will appear with the book from 1-2 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

The Northville Square Merchants Association will make a donation to Reeves' pet project, the Plymouth Center for Human Development, where he plays Santa Claus each year and delivers presents and candy. Reeves is a retired department store Santa.

'Nashville' is interesting slice of life

BY SHERRY KAHAN

First they went to New York, then to Hollywood and then to Las Vegas.

Now seeking fame and fortune, many are making their way to Nashville. In his film, "Nashville," director Robert Altman creates a fascinating cinematic loaf out of slices of the lives of the people drawn to the capital of country and western music.

Some are talented and yearn to express themselves. But others merely thirst for recognition, stardom and financial security. They experience pain, hunger, humiliation and disappointment trying to reach that wonderful state called success.

And what about the singers who do make it, those whose records sell by the millions, and who become top C and W dogs. Are they happy? Like Marilyn Monroe they are. Some seem to be able to handle it but the queen of them all, for example, has to worry about rivals, a husband who lives off her life and money and doesn't even like her much, plus the reactions of her adoring fans, who can be anything but loving when a performance is not up to snuff.

Two members of TV's Laugh In show have roles here that are by no means humorous. Henry Gibson, the show's timid poet, comes on strong here as the elder statesman of the Nashville singers.

Lily Tomlin, on the edges of the music scene, is tender with her two deaf children, and unsatisfied with her husband.

Altman's technique is to spend a few minutes with each of his large cast of characters and then move on. He returns to them frequently so we can see the impact of the city on them and their impact on it.

We see, for example, the trio whose girl singer is married to one of the trio and in love with the other.

This is an interesting film, although a bit long. It is the kind you find yourself thinking about later and appreciating again.

SWEETEST DAY
How It Began

More than thirty years ago, a Cleveland man, believing that the city's orphans and shut-ins too often felt forgotten and neglected, conceived the idea of showing them that they were remembered by the distribution of small gifts. With the help of his friends and neighbors, he distributed these small remembrances on a Saturday in October. During the years that followed, other Clevelanders began to participate in the celebration ceremony which came to be called "Sweetest Day." In time, the Sweetest Day idea of spreading cheer to the underprivileged was broadened to include everyone and became an occasion for remembering others with a kind act or a small remembrance. And soon the idea spread to other cities all over the country.

Bishop Borgess to face state's top team

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

Area fans will have a chance to see the top team in the state this Sunday when Birmingham Brother Rice takes on Bishop Borgess in a 2:30 p.m. affair at Thurston High School.

Not only is the fact that the Brother Rice team will be around noteworthy, but the game itself is critical in the Central Division of the Catholic League as both teams remain undefeated in league play.

Brother Rice is a big, powerful squad which plays basic football, i.e., the "three yards and a cloud of dust" theory to the game. The idea is, if you make the hole big enough, anyone can get through.

The Warriors have lost their top runner, Mike Cullen, for the season via injury but will come into the game with more than adequate replacements.

And how is Borgess preparing for its biggest test of the year?

One Spartan assistant coach claimed that the team will not be doing anything special in the Sunday showdown.

"We've got to do the things that have been working for us all year and just see what happens," he said.

And because Borgess has scouted Rice three times this year, they know full well what to expect.

"It seems that whenever they send someone out, they replace him with someone just as big," assistant Gene Grewe said.

The Spartans will have their hands full. That much is for sure.

And a win here would be a major upset even though the teams are equal on paper through league play.

Here's a rundown on all area grid action this weekend.

FRI. OCT. 17
Stevenson at Walled Lk. Cent., 8 p.m.

Spartan coach Jack Reardon says that this is his team's biggest game of the year. For certain it will have an effect on the Inter-Lakes League where both teams stand 2-1. The Spartans have allowed only 28 points in five games this season and their defense should get them through.

Redford Union at Bentley, 7:30 p.m.

RU needs a win desperately after five losses this year and this may be the spot against a Bulldog team that has faltered in recent weeks. On paper, Bentley looks superior but Redford Union is ready for an upset.

Salem at Dearborn, 4 p.m.
Salem has improved by leaps and bounds in recent weeks. How much? Not enough to overcome a big, powerful Dearborn team.

Churchill at Canton, 8 p.m.
It's homecoming for the Chiefs but it means the lead in the Western Six race for Churchill. The Chargers belted Walled Lake Western last week and live on defense. If the Chiefs can score, they can win.

Crestwood at G.C. West, 7:30 p.m.
West will also have a homecoming Friday and although the Tigers were blown out of the league lead last week, they should get back on the track against a mediocre Crestwood club.

Kettering at John Glenn, 8 p.m.
The Rockets were shot down last Saturday by Livonia Franklin and fell from the ranks of the unbeaten. This week, they should breeze by in still another homecoming affair.

SATURDAY, OCT. 18
G.C. East at Franklin, 2 p.m.
This is the game of the Northwest Suburban League. Both are unbeaten in league play. East has one tie (Bishop Borgess) and Franklin has one loss (Stevenson) elsewhere. The Patriots showed they could win when it counts last week against Glenn and get the nod on home turf.

Thurston at N. Farmington, 2 p.m.
Thurston got a taste of victory last week after coming so close many times and missing. Don Reihl may have turned the Eagles around. North Farmington will test that theory.

SUNDAY, OCT. 19
Brother Rice at Bishop Borgess, 2:30 p.m.

Borgess has met every challenge thusfar in this, its initial campaign in the Central Division of the Catholic League. But every game will seem a molehill compared to the mountain of Brother Rice. The Warriors are ranked tops in the state and Bishop Borgess will find out why in this contest at Thurston High School.

At RU Invitational

Spartan runner takes second

By JIM BRADLEY

Farmington High School junior Stewart Glatfelter ran the best race of his career as he won the 11th annual Redford Union Cross-country Invitational under a grueling sun Tuesday afternoon on the hilly Cass Benton Park course in Northville.

The flying Falcon's mark of 16:09 paced the 21-school field, just a couple strides ahead of Livonia Bentley's Doug Vorbeck, also a junior, (16:12) and Southfield senior Scott Stone (16:13).

All five Farmington runners were in the top 32 finishers, giving Coach Jerry Young's squad a run-away victory with 94 points, far ahead of second place Walled Lake Western's 135 and third place Dearborn's 148.

Rounding out the first ten teams were Trenton, North Farmington, Livonia Bentley, Belleville, Plymouth Salem, Westland John Glenn and host Redford Union.

Other individual stars were brothers Greg and Tim Thomas of Dearborn who took fourth and sixth, sandwiched around fifth place Mike Redford of Farmington Harrison who posted 16:23.

Trenton's Ken Morris (16:30) shaded 7th place John Shannon of Redford Union (16:34), Walled Lake Western's Ron Holland (16:37) and North Farmington's Dave Good with 16:42.

"It was a better race than we thought Stewart would run," Farmington coach Young admitted after the sweltering event. "He was all-league in track and cross-country last year as a sophomore, but he just came off a knee injury and we didn't know exactly how well he would do. He's consistently our number one man and finished 9th in the state meet last year."

Most coaches figured that Farmington would be the team to beat and they were right as three Falcons finished in the top 19 and five in the first 32. Hugh Leidlein (17:14) and Harold Rutila (17:19) ended 18th and 19th.

Walled Lake Western's strong finish was geared by three in the first 22, Ron Holland, 9th; Mike Mays, 16th in 17:01 and Joy Colyer, 22nd with 17:26.

Dearborn's Thomas brothers were the only Pioneers to finish in the first 25 for coach Herb Schroeter's harriers.

Mike Krafchak, host coach from Redford Union in his second year as head cross-country mentor, felt it was a very good meet.

"I consider this a very tough invitational and it's over one of the most challenging courses in the entire area," he said. "It's tough both mentally and physically. If you can't run hills, you won't run well on this course."

East girls win twice

The Garden City East girls' basketball team won a pair of games last week and en route established a new school record.

The leader of the Panther attack in both games was Jeanette Fisher, a senior center-forward who dropped in 25 points in East's 53-43 win over Annapolis Tuesday. In that game Julie Borto added 10.

Redford Union had two high finishers in John Shannon (8th) and Andy Kritzman (11th) but had no support in the battle for team honors.

Krafchak feels each of the three first place team finishers in Tuesday's invitational will do well in their different state regionals on Saturday, Oct. 25.

Larry Fortner, whose Farmington Harrison Hawks finished in the middle of the pack in 12th place, feels his Mike Redford is a definite threat in the state meet. "Mike finished fifth with 16:23 today, but he is constantly improving and is a good leader. It's too bad we didn't have someone up there with him to give support and points."

Temperatures set a record for the day as they soared to 83 degrees, causing many of the runners to run at a slower than normal pace.

Bill Pinnell's Garden City West squad was paced by Mike Cundiff (12th with 16:52) but had no teammate finish in the top 25 as the Tigers finished 13th.

"I definitely feel the times were slower because of the heat today. Usually cross-country meets are run in much cooler weather," said the likeable Pinnell who also figures Farmington, Walled Lake Western and Dearborn to do well in state competition.

Spartan rally beats PN

By JIM BRADLEY

The thing about coaching football is that you get a big win, then you turn around and have an even tougher game coming up.

Such is the case of coach Jack Reardon of Livonia Stevenson, whose Spartans came from behind Saturday to whip Pontiac Northern, 14-6, on two second half touchdowns.

Central is one of four teams tied for the Inter-Lakes League lead with 2-1 marks and a Stevenson victory would give it the edge in the last half of the six-game race.

"They are big and very physical. Their quarterback beat Waterford Township last Friday on his option running and passing," Reardon warned. "This will be a key game in our league."

Stevenson did a little job of its own on Pontiac Northern, which always seems to give the Spartans a terrific battle before bowing.

Several times in the past few years it's been a field goal by Reardon's crew that's been the margin of victory. Saturday it was no different as the visitors jumped to an early 6-0 lead in the second quarter.

Northern recovered a Stevenson fumble on the Spartan 41 yardline and moved that distance in eight plays with Butch Bard going the final five for the TD. The two-point attempt failed and Northern led, 6-0, at the half.

Behind the passing of quarterback Jim Dolmetsch, Stevenson got rolling in the third quarter after alert Bill Mikkelsen recovered a Pontiac fumble on the visitors' 27 yardline. After a couple jabs into the line gained five, Dolmetsch fired a 20-yard scoring strike to Steve Taylor for the tying touchdown with 9:40 left in the third stanza. When Bill Rowley kicked the point, Stevenson edged in front, 7-6.

Another Northern fumble late in the third quarter was pounced on by sophomore Jim Spala to set up the Spartans on the visitor's 43.

Ron Colone, who has played some sensational games for Reardon this year, combined with Dolmetsch for the second Spartan score. The speedy flanker, whose two touchdown receptions beat Livonia Franklin, caught a 14-yarder for a first down, then beat the Pontiac secondary to snare a 21-yard scoring aerial. Rowley added the extra point and Stevenson led, 14-6, its final margin.

Colone had another fine day as the 5-9, 150-pound flanker grabbed four passes for 61 yards and one touchdown. He also intercepted a pass during the game.

Dolmetsch completed six of 16 passes for 81 yards and Spartan ball carriers rushed 31 times for only 60 yards and a 141 total with six first downs.

Pontiac Northern also picked up six first downs, rushed 36 times for 100 yards and hit five of 11 passes for 49 yards.

Reardon praised junior Bill Mikkelsen and sophomore Bill Finn, who each recovered a Northern fumble, for playing fine games. Senior John Lokar led with 10 tackles on the defensive unit and was aided by teammate Mike Medved's eight stops.

"It was a good hitting ball game and Pontiac Northern's quickness gave us trouble in moving the ball," Reardon added. "But I felt we contained them pretty well."

Consistency marks BB back

By JIM BRADLEY

When it comes to key plays in football, Bishop Borgess' halfback Jim Kozlowski has probably made as many as any prep grider in the area. The 6-0, 180-pound speedster shredded U of D High School's defense for 119 yards in 20 carries Friday night as the Spartans of Fred Mushinski fought back for a 22-13 victory. After U-D scored first to take a 6-0 lead, Kozlowski skipped free on a 22-yard jaunt to set up Borgess' first TD and the Spartans went on from there to the victory.

It was the third consecutive game Kozlowski has traveled more than 100 yards against tough competition.

For his efforts, the consistent senior has been named the Observer & Eccentric Prep Star of the Week.

Before U-D, it was DeLaSalle who felt the sting of Kozlowski's flying feet. Again Borgess was behind 6-0 when 'Koz' sprinted down the sidelines 44-yards for the tying points. He gained 165 yards in 23 carries against the Pilots, who were then unbeaten.

In the fantastic Catholic Central game which Borgess won in the fourth overtime, 35-27, the 17-year-old senior zig-zagged 52 yards to tie the score at 7-7.

Jim is a versatile player, going both ways, starting on defense for three years and playing tailback the past two seasons. Last year he was named all-state as a defensive back and all-area and all-Catholic as a halfback.

Listen to his impressive statistics last year.

He gained 1,523 yards and scored 16 touchdowns and set every rushing mark Borgess has for a single season, including most carries, most yards gained, most TD's average per carry and highest game average.

So far this year Jim has 547 net yards gained in 102 carries for a 5.3 average and has returned kickoffs for an average of 16 yards. As a soph he set the school record for most kicks returned and most yards gained on returned kicks.

But Kozlowski's value to his team also comes from his 34.8 punting average and his defensive work as a halfback where he is a fine tackler, plays the pass well and does a good job against the run.

If ever there was a game that Jim Kozlowski wanted to excel in, it's the one coming up this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at Thurston High School when Borgess plays Brother Rice in a game that will draw state-wide attention.

Jim would like to make a few key plays in a Borgess victory then.

Canton swimmers lose; Ypsilanti defeats Salem

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

The Plymouth girls' swimming teams didn't fare too well last week as Plymouth Canton was defeated 113-58 by Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Salem lost 88-83 in a neck and neck race against Ypsilanti.

The only first for the Canton team was taken by Cindy Shelansky in the 200-yard individual medley at 2:33.8, a record for the Chiefs.

The Canton squad set three more records: the 100 backstroke at 1:10 by Shelansky; the 50 freestyle at 29.5 and the 100 freestyle at 1:07.6, both by Jane Anderson.

THE SALEM swimmers took first in all but one of the events against Ypsilanti.

It was the seconds and thirds that kept Ypsilanti close to Salem and taking first, second and third in the 100-yard breaststroke that gave them the meet.

The Rocks set three varsity records: Lisa Lukens in diving with 162.55 points; Sue Stanwood in the 100 butterfly at 1:02.1 and Jill McCann in the 100 backstroke at 1:10.

THURSDAY, Oct. 9, however, was a different story for Plymouth Salem.

It was another close meet but this time the Salem Rocks came out on the brighter side defeating Dearborn 87-85.

"I was very pleased with the performances of all the girls," says Salem Coach Faith Ransom. "The thing that was most impressive was the fact that we swam so well under pressure, especially because we went into the last relay down by four points and knew we had to take first and third."

"We did what we had to!" The Canton girls swimmers will meet Walled Lake Western today (Thursday) home beginning at 7 p.m. and then travel to Farmington Harrison Tuesday, Oct. 21 before returning home Oct. 23 for return match with Livonia Churchill.

The Salem swimmers will travel to down, two yards to go doe a first down and 30 seconds left, Hewlett bucked up the middle to the eight, but the officials ruled that the forward motion was stopped at the 10. That ended the threat.

The JVs will play Dearborn at home today (Thursday) beginning at 7 p.m. and then travel to Allen Park for an Oct. 23 game.

Tennis team places 3rd in regionals

By JOE PIERCE

The Plymouth Salem girls tennis team, led by Karen Cook and Ceci Warrick, finished third out of 12 teams last week in the state regional tournament held at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

Cook and Warrick playing doubles won all three of their matches on Thursday, and came back Friday to beat one of East Lansing's doubles teams in the semi-finals 6-2, 6-4.

In the finals against the other East Lansing team, Cook and Warrick were victorious 6-1 and 6-2. They advance now to the state finals in Kalamazoo tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday, Oct. 18.

East Lansing won the regionals with 20 points, followed by host school Ann Arbor Pioneer with 16, and Plymouth Salem with 14 points.

Freshman sensation Becky Crespo went all the way to the quarter-finals before bowing out 1-6, 6-2 and 4-6 for her first and only losses of the season.

Senior Ann Suckowski lost in the second by scores of 6-3 and 6-2. Laura Hastings-Suzanne Harnett lost in the quarter-finals to the best Ann Arbor Pioneer doubles team, 6-2 and 6-2.

The other Salem doubles team of Cheryl Kordick-Nancy Grotz lost in the first round of play to the East Lansing team that was runner-up, 6-0, 6-0. It was also their first and only losses of the season.

Junior Lynne Stone lost in the preliminaries. The girls ended this season with a 9-1 team record.

St., Plymouth, across the street from the Michigan State Police post.

CASTLES WILL hold an open house from 4-6 p.m. and from 9-10 p.m. Perrone will speak on teachers and professionalism from 7-9 p.m. in East Middle School, across the street from CASTLES at 1042 S. Mill.

CASTLES (Center for the Advanced Study of Teaching and Learning for Exciting Schools) is sponsored by Plymouth and Novi school districts and the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

It is a program which brings together universities, colleges, schools, local societies, parent-teacher organizations, administrators, and teachers to develop education for the entire community.

PERRONE, whose ideas on teacher education were the foundation of the CASTLES concept, is a nationally recognized authority on teacher education.

Charles Silberman, in "Crisis in the Classroom," wrote of Perrone's work: "The University of North Dakota is developing what is easily the most exciting teacher education program in the U.S."

The Plymouth and Novi education associations are hosting a dinner for Perrone and educational leaders preceding the evening program.

Directors of CASTLES are Gordon Hill and Malcolm McDonald, both teachers and administrators in England with extensive teaching and learning experience around the U.S.

Salem girl cagers win over Trenton

By ROBIN NEIMAN
Special Writer

Plymouth Salem girl cagers traveled to Trenton to meet one of the tougher teams in the Suburban Eight League and left with a 49-35 victory.

Earlier in the week the Rocks, 3-0, in Sub 8 standings and 5-2 overall, dropped a close game against Ann Arbor Huron by a score of 47-44.

DOWN BY three points, 15-12, at the end of the first quarter against Trenton, Salem turned on the steam to lead 32-19 at the half.

From then on the game was in the hands of the Rocks with the final score 49-35. Kathy Dillon paced Salem to the win with 17 points, teammate Peggy Moore added 14 while topping the team with seven rebounds.

AGAINST ANN ARBOR Huron, Carol Crissey lead Salem with 13 points and Linda Agardy scored 11 to equal her 11 rebounds.

Peggy Moore pulled in eight rebounds and suffered a sprained ankle. Huron's S. Mullice totaled 19 points for her team.

In an earlier game, Donna Goodrich was high scorer with 12 points for Salem against the Churchill team.

The Rocks meet Livonia Franklin tomorrow (Tuesday) at home beginning at 6:30 p.m. and host Belleville Thursday, Oct. 23, in a game beginning at the same time.

Panther varsity romps Cobras

After the Plymouth Junior Football Panther freshmen and JVs were edged by the Dearborn Heights Cobras 7-6, 12-6 in Vince Lombardi league play, the varsity squad rolled to an 18-0 win Sunday on the Cobras' homefield.

The freshmen game went down to the final seconds as the two teams played scoreless ball in the second half after the Cobras had jumped to a 7-6 halftime lead.

Lary Duty scored the Panthers' TD on a 15-yard sweep. Late in the fourth period, the Panthers marched down the field only to be stalled by a clipping penalty on a critical down.

The loss leaves the Panthers with a 1-4 record as they approach their final two games of the season.

coasted to an 18-0 victory.

The first Panther score came on an 18-yard pass to Mark Kitz from Jeff Spencer. Following a Cobra punt, the Plymouth team struck again on a pass from Spencer to Billy Ward who lateraled to David Skone on a play which covered 55 yards.

Early in the second quarter, Skone scored his fifth TD in the last two games by skirting left from seven yards out. From then on the Panther defense, keyed by two Greg Lucas pass interceptions, kept the Cobras at bay to register their second straight shutout.

This Sunday the Panthers travel to Allen Park to play the always strong Bulldogs.

AS IN THE freshmen game, an official's call was critical to the outcome as the Cobras scored on a controversial play during the final minute to defeat the Panthers 12-6.

The Panthers had come from a 6-0 deficit to tie the score on a 28-yard TD pass from John Molyoneaux to Tom Reed. The Panther joy was brief, however, as the Cobras quickly marched upfield for the winning tally.

Outstanding defensive efforts were turned in by John Bevelheimer and Brian Cavagnini as the Panthers absorbed their fifth consecutive loss.

AVERTING A Cobra sweep of the day's festivities, the Panther varsity scored TDs the first three times they had possession of the ball and then

Lions drop 2, frosh win

The Plymouth Junior Football Lions freshmen kept their championship hopes alive Sunday with a 12-0 victory over the Brighton Bengals.

Meanwhile the JV and varsity squads fell by scores of 6-0 and 7-0.

MICKEY MADSON scored twice to pace the Lion frosh to their third win in five outings.

The first score, from a yard out, followed a 40-yard, fourth-down pass completion from Duane March to Jeff Arnold. Madson's second tally was from three yards away and clinched the victory.

Sharing the running honors was Todd Beauchamp who gained about 80 yards.

THE JVs LOST their third game against a win and a tie as the Bengals opened the second half with a 50-yard bomb for a TD.

Although the Lions offense was able to grind out yardage, they were plagued by costly fumbles. Mickey Maisner, again the Lions' star on defense, managed 90 yards against the Bengals' "rubber band" defense.

Dropping their fourth game in five outings, the Lion varsity continued to play well defensively but was unable to put any points on the board.

Daren Johnson and John Gray led the Lion defenders in a game highlighted by crisp tackling.

This Sunday the Lions host the Dearborn Heights Cubs at Central Field in Plymouth.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

The American Bowling Congress has confirmed the fact that more and more men are turning to mixed league competition. This has been felt in the metropolitan Detroit area for some time, but the ABC now has produced figures that show the trend is being followed across the nation.

In the latest figures there are 126,827 sanctioned leagues, broken down into 75,668 mixed leagues and 51,159 all male circuits.

The real switch from men's leagues began in 1970 when 51.22 per cent of all leagues were all male. Now the all male percentage is down to 40.34.

CAROL SCHEMERS who bowls with the Jac-Ro team in the Ladies all star leagues, carried on the tradition of the Detroit delegation when she won three medals in the Federation championships held last week in England.

She was a member of the second place team and won a silver medal. She teamed with Carol Gaddis, another Detroit, to take second place in the doubles and landed third in the all-events for a bronze medal.

Last year Mary Mohacs, the Livonia school teacher, won a medal, and before her, Helen Weston, and Helen Shablis were among the top scorers in the world wide competition.

THE NEW MID-CITY tournament got off to a flying start last Sunday at Crown Lanes, when Janet Dimmer staved off a challenge from Cora Fiebig to win the newly designed head-to-head competition.

More than 60 women competed in the qualifying round with Pat Melvin setting the pace with a 996 count.

THE ALL-STAR GIRLS, who have been having a rough time rolling big counts, finally found the range in the Bowlerettes Monday night when three teams bettered the 1,000 mark.

The Motown team showed the way with a 1091 and was followed by Bonanza with 1010 and Pinky's with 1001.

Penny Behn was high for the night with a 644 while Pat Melvin turned in a 249 for high game.

ONLY FOUR bowlers bettered double century figures in the classic at Garden Lanes.

Milan Rulich set the pace with a 642. Next in line came Bill Patterson with 607, Ray Thorpe with 603 and Jerry King with and even 600.

In the Moose circuit it was Bill Turner leading the parade with a 631 while Bill Hockstall had a 611.

The ladies had a great time of it, too. Gloria Howell showed the way in the Thursday league with a 628 and Marge Van Ness landed in the runner-up spot with 614.

Pat Lisowski rolled a 604 to lead the Garden Classic with Janet Dimmer in second place with a 591. Third place went to Kay Cappola with 575 and Mary Mohacs placed fourth with 574.

DAN EMMET was "king of the hill" at Westland Bowl. He linked games of 252, 212 and 220 for a 684 and gained a 19 pin margin on Bob O'Brien while Mike Chapman trailed in third place with 640.

DIANNE MILLER earned top place at Merri-Bowl with a 236 for high game in the Goddard and Goddard League. Barbara Ziegler, a 128 average bowler, landed second with a 233.

While all this was happening, Mike Miller of the Railroaders turned in a 190 triplate.

BOB FILL had good reason to be jolly at Country Lanes.

He went 100 pins over his 164 average with games of 155, 264 and 237 for a 656.

DOT FULTON put on a repeat performance in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she rolled 527-114-641 that included a high single of 190-38-228. In the other games, Kay Harmon won the opener with 172-52-224 and Betty Moeller took the second with a 170-46-224.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC WANT ADS HELP PEOPLE IN MANY WAYS!

Buyers and sellers are "strange" people. Strange to each other, that is. People with lots of different needs and wants, people who need to get together. They need to get together in the quickest, least expensive and most effective way possible—the Observer & Eccentric Want Ads.

Say you need a buyer for a bunch of baby basset hounds, or a really good home for a litter of antiques...How do you meet those unknown admirers with an eye for your special goods? How do you keep track of sellers with garage sales, and owners of autos and pets to trade? It's easy -- when you know where buyers and sellers get together best—the Observer & Eccentric Classifieds.

It's easy to get double buying and selling results, too. Double-Action Ads bring people together from all over Wayne and Oakland Counties. These suburban communities include: Birmingham, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Rochester, Avon Twp., Southfield and Troy in Oakland County; Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth, Plymouth Twp., Canton Twp., Redford Twp., and Westland in Wayne County. Smart buyers and sellers place a Double Action Family Want Ad (non business) of 15 words or less in two consecutive issues, with no changes in copy and no cancellations -- and they pay only $6. That's a savings of $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

When you have something to sell...when you have something to buy...you've got a lot in common in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Want Ads.

Anniversaries To Be Celebrated Together

Livonia Mall's 11th and the Nation's 200th, October 16-19

As part of Livonia Mall's observance of the country's 200th birthday it is holding a joint celebration and observance.

Featured will be a display, by the Questers, of memorabilia such as old farm implements, tools, antique kitchen tools, old tins, country crocks and preserving jars, lighting implements and clocks.

For the children they will display their collection of antique dolls, toys, pictures and a Victorian Doll house with 22 rooms all furnished in Victoriana.

The Questers will attend the exhibit dressed in costumes of the period.

The Bell Branch of the Questers who have arranged the exhibit are part of the national organization, and have members from the Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Norville, Pontiac, Dearborn, Brighton and Howell areas. Their club was formed in the interest of collecting antiques and they work on many restorations. The members have arranged to have a chair caning exhibit, 15 minutes out of every hour during the four days of the sale. They also will have exhibits in rug hooking and wood carving.

One of the prominent wood carvers will be Timber Jim, who is one of only six gun stock carvers in the nation. He will be designing and working on gunstock decorative carving during the exhibit in the center area of Livonia Mall, 7 Mile Road at Middlebelt, Thursday through Sunday.

To also help commemorate the Bicentennial the Merchants Association at the Mall have leased mannequins so their customers can step back into history. In seconds they will don the appearance of their forebears and with the aid of the new Polaroid Special Event camera are recorded in brilliant color for an excellent memento in attractive commemorative folders.

Bob Allison, well-known WWJ radio personality of the "Ask Your Neighbor" show will be at Livonia Mall Thursday 2:30-5 p.m. Meet him in person. Free "Ask Your Neighbor" cookbooks will be given away at the "History Makers" Photo booth to any customer who shows a current sales receipt from the Mall merchants for $5 or more, while 1,000 last.

On Friday, radio personality Eddie Jaye, the Magic Marshal from WDEE will be at the Mall 2-4 p.m. He'll perform a magic show and make all his young audience special "Big D" Deputies. There'll be some small prizes for them too.

The Will-O-Way players will take their turn at the Livonia Mall during the Anniversary event with their rendering of the 1890s to 1920s, a potpourri of songs and dances. Great for sing-alongs as you hear those well remembered lyrics. Join with them on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They'll perform three times daily Saturday at 12 noon, 3 and 7 p.m.; Friday at 12 noon, 3 and 6:45 p.m., and Saturday at 11 a.m., 12:30 and 2 p.m.

Away from the Bicentennial theme, but also very important as it represents the Grand Opening of the newest store at Livonia Mall, Treasures of Asia, there will be an East Indian-Pakistan revue with Tabla and Sitar music by Step into history at Livonia Mall!

You'll have a great conversation piece with these unique photos.

Bring the youngsters for pictures too—there are Johnny Tremain and Molly Pitcher Magic Mannequins, just for them—and get unforgettable portraits you'll treasure, send to proud grandparents and relatives. Best of all, you get your pictures instantly, on the spot, and mounted FREE in attractive display folders. The mannequins will be in the center mall at Livonia Mall, 7 Mile Road and Middlebelt from Monday, October 13, through Sunday, October 19, during Mall hours.

As a special attraction to celebrate the Bicentennial, as well as Livonia Mall's 11th Anniversary, the Livonia Mall Merchants have made it possible for YOU to get a beautiful color picture in authentic colonial dress. (Either a Revolutionary Soldier or Betsy Ross). Step behind the magic mannequin, put on a hat and faster than you can say "George Washington" you're back in 1776.

Just put your arms in the sleeves to create the illusion—and the history-making event is recorded for posterity instantly, in brilliant color.

DANNY HOLLEY

Through the courtesy of Grinnell's, Livonia Mall, Danny Holley will play the Hammond organ in the Sears Court, Livonia Mall, on Sunday, October 19 at 2 p.m. The concert will be free, of course.

Timber Jim Pioneers An Old Craft

Mr. Jim Grey, better known as "Timber Jim," owner of Timber Jim's store in Livonia Mall is primarily a wood carver, and a fine one to boot. In studying the history of woodcarving he found there was still a great demand for hand carved decorations on gun stocks, but that there were just five men in the United States still performing this old craft, so with prompting from his friends he decided to become number six.

The wildlife and hunting scenes he has since designed and carved are so beautiful they could grace any treasured wooden article and must soon become collectors items. Timber Jim will be carving gunstocks during the Bicentennial display in Livonia Mall, October 16 -19.

BOB ALLISON

BOB ALLISON of WWJ radio's "Ask Your Neighbor" program has been with the station since January 1961. The show was first aired in February 1962 with Bob at the helm and he has been with the show ever since. His weekday morning show ranks among the best listened programs on the air and it is felt the success of the show is due largely to the warm, charming manner of its host. You will get to meet Bob Allison in person at Livonia Mall on Thursday, 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

He will answer your questions and autograph the FREE "Ask Your Neighbor" cookbook being given away by the Livonia Mall merchants to any customer who shows a current sales slip for $5.00 or more from any of the Mall stores. The books will be available at the "Step Into History" photo booth.

Allison is a member of the Businessman's Club of the downtown YMCA and belongs to Variety Clubs International, he is a member of the Detroit Rotary Club, the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Adcraft Club of Detroit.

Bob has donated his name, time and efforts to such groups as the United Foundation, the United Community Service Organization, the Michigan Heart Association, the Salvation Army and church groups of many denominations. He is a native of LaPorte, Indiana.

New Stores to Open in Livonia Mall

Windows filled with glass objects of every description marks
the opening of "The Glass House" a kiosk located between Winkelman's and Sears. All the items are handmade or blown and many are the creation of Mike Neilligan the owner.

Attractive antique copper and glass show cases filled with imports in gleaming brass, rich wood, copper, delicately embroided clothes, and rich antique and modern jewelry from all over the world herald the "Treasures of Asia" new store, located near Cunningham's in the Crowley Court. Aftab and Nagina Khan, owners, said they chose Livonia and the Livonia
Mall as the finest place to open their new store. As area residents, they felt their neighbors were the kind who would appreciate giving gifts or decorating their homes and themselves with handmade items from all over the world.

To make sure they were on the right track they invited one of their suppliers, Mr. Singh, owner of Sandeeps' Products and Export Division, Delhi, India to man their store and find out just what the people in this area wanted and were looking for.
Mr. Singh, after spending the summer at Treasures of Asia, is now back in his home town of Delhi manufacturing and shipping over the items and insofar as clothes were concerned, sizes that he found most popular. As new items become available from all over the world, you can be sure Treasures of Asia will have them.
